WALTON STILL A KLANSMAN, WIZARD EVANS TESTIFIES

Atlanta, Oct. 31. (I.N.S.)—Governor J. C. Walton, of Oklahoma, was, and in all likelihood still is, a "member at large" of the Ku Klux Klan, it was declared here in court by Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan.

This was one of the sensations brought out in Fulton superior Court when testimony of Wizard Evans was given in the Rittenhouse trial for receivership of the organization.

The imperial wizard said Governor Walton had applied for membership and that his fee was sen to the Atlanta office. He also stated that the Oklahoma Klansmen to whom he applied for membership "didn't want him; didn't believe in him" and for this reason he might be termed a "member at large."

4 LINERS WITH IMMIGRANTS DIVERTED TO PORT OF BOSTON

New York, Oct. 31.—Bearing 12,000 immigrants and 6,000 citizens, sixteen trans-Atlantic liners will land their immigrants on Ellis Island today. This will prove the last rush of aliens until next July, as the quotas of practically all nations for the fiscal year have been filled in its first five months.

Immigration officials believe many immigrants will not be permitted to land by reason of excess quota.

To avoid the crush at Ellis Island, several steamships were diverted to other ports. The Fabre liners Madonna and Asia go to Providence, Canaderes Francesca, Tuscania and Carmanica, and United States liner President Polk to Boston, North German Lloyd liner Seydlitz to Portland, and Scandinavian liner Stavangerfjord to Philadelphia.

TOM LAWSON SEEKS CURE FOR DIABETES

Bar Harbor, Me., Oct. 31.—Thomas W. Lawson, famous Boston financier, reported to be at death's door, is undergoing a diabetes cure at Toronto, Canada, it was learned today.

The author of "Frenzied Finance" is far from seriously ill, however, and was able to make the trip unassisted. Furthermore, instead of being "broke," as he is popularly supposed to be, Lawson maintains two automobiles, one of them a locomobile, and a chauffeur.

The former financier, whose career was believed ended when he was forced to dispose of "Dreamwold," his beautiful estate at Scituate, is popularly supposed to be worth $5,000,000.

HALLOWEEN LANTERN SETS LITTLE GIRL'S DRESS AFIRE

Beverly, Oct. 31.—A Halloween jack-o'-lantern would have caused the death of seven-year-old Helen Nelson of Pierce avenue but for the efforts of her father, Alfred Nelson, who was severely burned in putting out the fire. The child is in a critical condition in Beverly hospital. Mr. Nelson, though badly burned, will be able to leave the hospital soon.

The father heard screams in the yard and found the girl's dress ablaze. He smothered the flames with his coat and hands.

COLUMBIA LEADS AT 1ST TURN

Bluenose Outsailed in Light Wind of the Second Race

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31.—Columbia, the Yankee challenger, led the Canadian defender Bluenose by 1 minute 24 seconds at the first mark in the second race of the international fishermen's series today.

It took the schooners more than an hour to sail 6.4 miles to the first mark. At the turn for the run to Shut-in Island buoy sails were flapping idly on both schooners.

Official time, first mark: Columbia, 10:29:20; Bluenose, 10:29:44.

20-MILE COURSE TODAY.

The course, with the wind holding true, provides a run of six miles to the inner automatic buoy, a reach of eleven miles to Shut-in Island buoy, a close reach nine miles to the outer automatic buoy and thirteen miles of windward work to the finish line, a total of about thirty-nine miles.

Bluenose crossed the starting line at 9:30:32. Columbia crossed ten seconds later. The wind freshened as the boats started, running almost before the wind.

Ten minutes after the starting gun the Bluenose crossed the Columbia's bow and headed away before the wind for the inner automatic buoy, the first mark. The Columbia also straightened away for the first mark.

At 9:10 the Columbia, after establishing a lead of a length, attempted to cross Bluenose bee bow. Captain Walters of the Bluenose headed up and both boats were holding well to weather of their courses, Walters giving Pine a nice blanket.

At 9:35 both schooners were still

WEALTHY WIFE AND SALESMAN ELOPE

Worn and haggard from sleeplessness and anxiety, Guy A. Davison, automobile dealer of Holderness, N. H., appeared at the Boston police headquarters today with an appeal for assistance in locating his wife and one of his salesman, L. Everett Marden, who disappeared Tuesday in different automobiles, but who are believed to have met after leaving Laconia.

"For the sake of our six-year-old boy and Mrs. Farmer, my wife's mother so lives with me and who is seriously prostrated by her daughter's act, I will forgive Edith all if she will return to us."

Davison owns garages in Laconia, Holderness and Plymouth. His business has prospered and his home in Holderness is one of luxury. His neighbors declare he has always been an indulgent husband.

The missing woman, Mrs. Edith Farmer Davison, is described as a beautiful brunette, who does not look her thirty-two years. She has big brown eyes and brown hair and wore a brown suit with a fur collar when she left home.

"I returned home last evening and was told that Edith had left about 10 a. m." Davison told the police.

AUTO KILLS MELROSE GIRL, 195TH VICTIM THIS YEAR

Dorothy Thelma Wilson, nine-year-old Melrose girl, was instantly killed on Main street near East Emerson street, Melrose, when a truck owned by the Hill & Welch Furniture Company of Lyan knocked the child down, the wheels passing over her chest. She was the 195th child killed by autos in Massachusetts this year.

Steven A. Brown, of No. 110 Bowler road, Lynn, driver of the truck, was arrested by Melrose police on charge of manslaughter, and was released in $1000 bail furnished by his employers.

According to Brown's story, the girl was riding on a "scooter" along Main street, on her way to her home when she suddenly left the sidewalk and rode directly into the path of the truck, before the driver could stop the machine.

ROWDIES FINED NOT PUPILS OF COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL

Shirley K. Kerns headmaster of the Newton Country Day School says that the boys who were arrested and fined for rowdyism on the school playground were not members of his school but came from the neighborhood. He made no complaint until in spite of repeated remonstrances the boys persisted in cutting up the playground and the police officer on the beat was unable to keep them off. In Newton Court Judge Weston suspended fines for six months provided the boys showed good behavior.

McDonald, Who Acted for the Leather Man, Tells How Cash Was Distributed

"Big Bill" Corcoran, alleged blackmail ring leader, horned in for a $1,000 fee and $125 expense money in the shakedown of James L. Donovan, lanky leather man.

So testified John F. McDonald, Donovan's attorney, in his second day o nthe witness stand at the new fumous trial in Superior Court.

"Shaker Row," in which all "Big Bill" his brother Leo, Lawyer Harry E. Levenson, who collected the "big dough," it is charged, and five others sat as thourh following a threshse hit as McDonald continued his disclosures.

He had already testified as to how "Big Bill" got Levenson to reduce the demands of $100,000 on Donovan following his being trapped with Theressa "Teddy" Duggan, ring "go-getter," in her Allston flat.

In fact the attorney outlined the "Takers to Evers to Chance" base-

CORCORAN GOT $1,000 FOR FIXING CASE WITH LEVENSON

PAID BY DONOVAN AS FEE FOR MRS. DUGGAN

ball couplet is his testimony today. He got dizzy running from Donovan to Levenson to Corcoran to keep his gray-haired, long-legged client free from threatened prosecution in Brighton Court.

After he had everything prettied up the lawyer said "Big Bill" modestly remarked that he though he ought to have something for seeing Levenson, even though the State charges they were leagued together in the ring business.

AND SOME MORE

"How much?", was McDonald's interrogation.

"Oh $1,000", said "Big Bill".

Lawyer McDonald sprinted back to Donovan and the big leather-lung fearful at the time that Teddy the lure was going to inhale a death potion into her good name he refused in Brighton court, 'Pay him."

"Big Bill" was paid, $1,000 the attorney testified, whereupon he added, "Big Bill" soliloquized to the effect that $125 for expenses wouldn't make him feel badly.

That also was forthcoming.

There was a general crushing forward in the "gallery" as spectators portion of the courtiscalled, when Special Prosecutor Hill putinto evidence the famous $17,5000 check Donovan paid to the ring. Jurors also semmed interested. Lawyers, too.

"It looks like a lot of money," sighed a lure in Soubrette Row, "even if it cancelled."

Read what Mr. McDonald said. It is interesting:

$500 CHECK

When court opened Mr. McDonald testified in relation to a check for $500 which he gave to Harry E. Levenson. The check was dated June 7, 1919."

Q. (By Prosecutor Hill)—tate in detail what happened in regard to that check? A.—To the best of my recollection I had not had any money at that time from Donovan. I gave him that check as going toward the amound agreed on for settlement. I think I went down to cash it for him and give him the cash. That explains my endorsement on the back.

Q.—Was the $500 paid by you to Levenson? A.—I won't say. I will say though that Mr. Levenson got that $500.

Q.—Are you sure? A.—Yes. Because I gave him that check as part of the settlement.

Q.—Did you go to the office of Mr. Corcoran with Mr. Donovan? A.—Yes. To talk over the situation.

Q.—Can you fix the date of that "I asked Mrs. Danforth if that wasn't Mr. Kane."

visit? A.—No.

Q.—Was it after you had given Levenson that check for $500. A.—I can't say. We were back and forth between Corcoran's and Levenson's offices every day.

Q.—Did you talk with Mr. Corcoran in person on that occasion? A.—Yes, and Mr. Corcoran told me he thought he ought to be paid for his services. I said to Mr. Donovan that Mr. Corcoran wanted $1,000 for getting in tough with Levenson, and Mr. Donovan consented.

ANOTHER $125

Q.—Was that check paid Mr. Corcoran outside the $17,500. A.—Yes, and there was another for $125 also.

Q.—What about that $125? A.—Mr. Corcoran said he had been put to certain expenses, such as hiring taxis and detectives.

Q.—What else happened at that interview? A.—Mr. Donovan gave me his firm check for the amount.

Q.—Was there any other check made out? A.—Yes. A firm check to Mr. Levenson.

Q.—What did you do with the Levenson check? A.—I deposited it in the United States Trust Company and then drew my check against it.

Q.—Was anything said in that interview by anyone as to what services had been rendered? A.—Yes. Mr. Corcoran said he had attended to a matter for Mrs. Duggan and that he desired compensation for his services and also that he had helped bring about the settlement with Mr. Levenson.

Q.—Was anything said by Corcoran in regard to a civil suit other than the divorce suit? A.—No.

Q.—Or in regard to any suit by Francis Duggan for alienation of his wife's affections. A.—No.

PRODUCES CHECKS

Prosecutor Hill then stepped to the table and picked up the checks which were offered in evidence. The William J. Corcoran check for $1,000 was read that Exhibit No. 16. The Harry E. Levenson check for $17,500 was made Exhibit No. 11. This amount, however, was exclusive of the $500 paid by Attorney McDonald with his personal check which he claims he gave Levenson before he received money himself from Donovan.

Q.—Did you indorse Mr. Corcoran's check for $1,000, Mr. McDonald. A.—Yes.

The witness said he was not familiar with Corcoran's signature, so Attorney Joseph P. Walsh took the $1,000 check to Corcoran in defendants' row. Corcoran studied the check a minute and admitted it bore his signature.

Prosecutor Hill offfered the check to the jury for inspection. It was drawn on the United States Trust Company to the order of William J. Corcoran on June 9, 1919. Mr. McDonald had said that the signature on it was his and that the body of the check was written in his handwriting. The check bore also the office stamp of Corcoran. It also bore the stamps of the clearing house and the Hanover Trust Company.

Q.—Was the Harry E. Levenson check for $17,175 paid Mr. Donovan on the same day? A.—Yes.

This check was also offered to the jury each member studying the slip of paper carefully.

If Theresa Duggan hadn't threatened to do away with herself because of threatened disgrace, Donovan might have wriggled free of the famous shakedown without paying a penny, testified Attorney McDonald.

Attorney McDonald had already succeeded, he testified, in reducing the demands from $100,000 to a modest $20,000. He was prepared to bargain further, he said, when Donovan, his client, the man known to the ring's fans as "J. L.", said:

"Settle quick. This poor lady says she'll commit suicide if we are dragged into Brighton court."

The lawyer then settled, he said, with Levenson, by the well-known process of offering $15,

While the lawyers dickered over the amount he should pay, Donovan was mood perturbed.

000 to offset the ring's final demand of $20,000, then splitting the difference.

Teddy today was gazed at with renewed interest by the daily crowd which jams Judge Quinn's court room. She sits next to "Big Bill" Corcoran, alleged ring leader. They occupy chairs in the row now known as "Shaker Row."

Lawyer McDonald who said he had practiced before Suffolk Bar for thirty-one years told of appealing to William J. Corcoran, one of the eight defendants, to intercede with Levenson.

Mr. McDonald said Corcoran telephoned Levenson and told him his figure was too high; that his claim would be fought; that McDonald was a good fellow, and that he had better come down. Levenson, however, impatiently insisted on going to court. Attorney McDonald told Judge Connolley that he considered it "a holdup" and "blackmail." Judge Connolley resified that he could merely pass upon the facts presented to him.

Donovan told Attorney McDonald that he had been "framed" and used the term "mulcted" when he gave McDonald his personal check for $17,500 after Levenson had reduced his alleged demand from $100,000, to $50,000, 25,000, $25,000 and finally to $17,500. Mr. McDonald said he told Levenson, Donovan could not afford to pay any such sum. He said Levenson insisted that Donovan was rich.

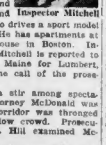
This phase of McDonald's testimony revealed the alleged deliberate and business-like methods of the gang. McDonald testified that Levenson laughed when he offered $5,000 and that Lavenson met the claims of the witness that Donovan was merely comfortable and not wealthy by informing him that he had looked up the tax returns of Donovan's firm and found that it had paid $450,000.

Mr. McDonald testified that he told Levenson that Donovan's brothers who were associated with him in business could not afford to suffer any publicity on his part.

He said he told Donovan to ask Mrs. Duggan to permit him to represent both of them in Brighton court and that Corcoran when he heard of it charged McDonald with trying to steal his client.

McDonald's testimony showed that the trust in Mrs. Duggan's flat cost Donovan more than $20,000. He testified that he received a fee of $1,000 and that he paid Corcoran $1,000 for his efforts to cut Levenson's figures. In addition to this he said he gave Levenson his personal check for $500 on the United States Trust Company to reimburse him for detectives and other expenses which Levenson claimed he had been put to. Then there must be taken into consideration the fee which Donovan paid Attorney John H. Casey, whom he also consulted on the case.

Court habitues are eagerly awaiting the appearance on the witness stand of A. J. Lumbert, millionaire lumber king of Houlton, Me., whom the blackmail ring are charged with having tried to shake down. Lumbert's story will be spicy. He is a large man in his sixties and has a young and pretty wife who drives a sport model Rolls Royce. He has apartments at the Parker House in Boston. Inspector John Mitchell is reported to have gone to Maine for Lumbert, who awaits the call of the prosecution.



Inspector Mitchell

There was a stir among spectators when Attorney McDonald was called. The corridor was thronged with an overflow crowd. Prosecutor Arthur D. Hill examined McDonald.

Donovan, McDonald said, had called at his home in Orchard street, Dorchester Hills, and engaged him as counsel the day after "Teddy the Lure" sprang her trap.

The same day they journeyed to the office of Levenson.

Levenson, he said, told them he was acting as counsel for Francis P. Duggan, Teddy's husband. Duggan and "Ted" also are in the row of eight defendants.

"Mr. Levenson said to me," testified Mr. MacDonald, "Donovan was caught in a very bad position. He has been going around with this woman for a long time. I have had detectives trailing him to places in Boston and to hotels in New York and he has broken up this man's home."

Levenson said he was going to court to get out a warrant unless Donovan settled for $100,000.

RELEASES McDONALD

"I said to Levenson, 'That is ridiculous. he hasn't got it.' He said, 'Yes he has, he is a very rich man.' I said, 'From what I know of him he has no $100,000 to give.' Levenson said, 'Yes he has. I know he is a very rich man. I know what his income tax was. In 1917 his concern paid $450,000.'"

Q. What was said and done at the conference with Mr. Donovan? A.—May I first ask whether I have been released from my privilege as an attorney.

Judge Quinn—"You have been released."

Mr. McDonald—"But there has been some statement that I was not released."

Judge Quinn—"You are released."

Prosecutor Hill: Q.—What took place between you and Mr. Donovan when he first came to ask you to act as his attorney? Give all the conversation. A.—Mr. Donovan came to my house after first telephoning at eight o'clock in the morning. When he telephoned I told him I would be glad to see him. He was very much agitated when he arrived.

TOLD OF RAID

Mr. Donovan said he had been raided the night before. He said he had been in a room with a girl when three men broke into the apartment. He said they came in without a key. He said he jumped out of bed. He said the woman was hysterical. He asked her what they were there for. One of the men answered, and I do not recall whether he named the man. "We have come here to get you. This is a fine mess for a married man to be in." He said this man went across the room to a table and took a picture of him which was in a frame. He said he had words with one of the men, saying: "How would you like it if I put a gun ——— if I put a bullet through you?"

Q.—What else do you recall of what Mr. Donovan said. A.—Mr. Donovan said someone went out to a telephone; that he sat there; that the women went out to some other room and that after some lapse of time, he couldn't say how long, William J. Corcoran came to the apartment; that Corcoran said to him: "This is a pretty bad mess you are in"; that Mr. Corcoran said to come to his office the next morning and that they finally left. Donovan said to me that he had been drinking that night.

J. Warren Kane's bald head was distinctly remembered by Miss Ada Wall who says she tented him the flat where Kern was trapped.

Q.—Did he mention the names of any men who had entered the flat in the first instance. A.—I can't say.

Q.—How many men did he say here were? A.—My best recollection is that he said three.

Q.—Do you recall whether Mr. oDnovan told you who telephoned. A.—No.

WENT TO LEVENSON

Q.—What was the next thing done by you subsequent to this? A.—My next action was to go to the office of Harry E. Levenson.

Q.—What led you to go to Mr. Levenson's office? A.—I honestly can't tell you whether it was because of a telephone or a letter.

Q.—Whom did you see there? A.—Why Harry E. Levenson. There was a stenographer there, too.

Q.—Where did you see him? A.—In his private office.

Q.—What was said in that conversation. A.—Mr. Levenson said to me he wanted $100,000 for Mr. Duggan (husband of Theresa).

Q.—At what time was this conversation in his office. A.—That was the same day Mr. Donovan came out and retained me.

Q.—At any time during that first interview did he say anything about any civil suit by Mr. Duggan against Mr. Donovan? A.—No, sir.

Q.—At any time during that first interview did he say anything about a suit for alienation of affections? A.—No sir.

Mr. McDonald said he reported to Mr. Donovan and talked over Donovan's relations with the woman.

Q.—Did you communicate to Mr. Donovan what had been said by Mr. Levenson in regard to Mr. Donovan having broken up his (Duggan's) home? A.—I cannot say, Mr. Hill, that I did.

Q.—Do you keep a lawyers' diary? A.—I would not have anything in my diary about this case. I do keep accounts on a loose leaf system.

PRICE IS CUT DOWN

Mr. McDonald testified that he next saw Levenson either that afternoon or the next day and talked further with him about the case.

Q.—What was said at that interview? A.—We got down to $50,000 instead of $100,000. I said that there would be no $50,000 paid as he (Donovan) could not afford to give that amount and furthermore that I didn't know whether he would give anything.

Q.—At the second conversation did he refer to court proceedings at all? A.—I can't recollect.

Q.—Do you recall whether he said anything about any civil suit by Mr. Duggan against Mr. Donovan? A.—No civil suit was mentioned.

Q.—Or any civil suit for alienation of affections? A.—No.

Q.—What did you do next? A.—I went to his office in consequence of information which I received from Mr. Donovan.

Q.—What was this information? A.—I heard from Mr. Donovan that William J. Corcoran was acting for the woman. I heard this on Wednesday, the day after the raid, which was on Tuesday.

SEES CORCORAN

"I then went to the office of Mr. Corcoran and talked with him about the case. He said he was acting for Mrs. Duggan to get a divorce. He said it was a bad affair and that Donovan had been caught in a bad position. I think I told Mr. Corcoran that it was a nasty mess and that Levenson was trying to get a warrant for Donovan and Mrs. Duggan.

Attorney John F. McDonald said Levenson demanded that his client Donovan pay $100,000.

"Corcoran said he would try to stop that. I told Mr. Corcoran that Levenson had demanded $100,000. He called up Levenson on the telephone.

"Mr. Corcoran told Levenson that I represented Mr. Donovan and that he represented Mrs. Duggan. He told Mr. Levenson the amount was too high. He told Levenson he would never get it and that the case would be fought.

"After Mr. Corcoran stopped talking with Levenson on the telephone we talked further. I said I understood Levenson would go to Brighton Court on Saturday morning of the same week the affair occurred."

WALSH OBJECTS

Q.—How long after your first interview with Levenson did you confer with Mr. Corcoran? A.—I saw Levenson twice on the same day and my interview with Mr. Corcoran was after my first talk with Levenson.

Q.—Did Mr. Corcoran at any time during your interview with him refer to the statute relating to criminal extortion of money?

Attorney Walsh: "I object to Mr. Hill's attempt to procure as a matter of law an opinion that the defendant Corcoran failed to discuss the statute referred. I consider the question prejudicial."

Judge Quinn—I allow the question. In view of the fact that the witness answered in the negative I don't see how it matters.

Q.—After leaving Mr. Corcoran what was the next thing you did? A.—I had a second interview with Mr. Levenson. It was after Mr. Corcoran had telephoned to him.

Q.—What day was that? Thursday, May 29, 1919.

Q.—Was Friday Decoration Day? A.—Yes.

INSISTS ON $35,000

Q.—What took place at the second interview at Mr. Levenson's office? I told him I had come to see him relative to his plan to go to Brighton Court. I said: "The figures you are talking are too high." We then talked $35,000—that is he did, I had no authority.

"Levenson then said, 'I can't wait any longer. I'm going to Brighton Court to get a warrant.' I went to see Mr. Corcoran again. Mr. Corcoran called up Mr. Levenson again and discussed the case. He told Levenson not to go to court and he would see what could be done.

Q.—Have you now told the jury everything that was said and took place at that second interview with Mr. Corcoran? A.—Mr Corcoran told Mr. Levenson the second time he phoned him that he was asking altogether too much and that I said Donovan would not pay a cent.

Judge Quinn—I allow the question. In view of the fact that the witness answered in the negative I don't see how it matters.

Q.—After leaving Mr. Corcoran what was the next thing you did? A.—I had a second interview with Mr. Levenson. It was after Mr. Corcoran had telephoned to him.

Q.—What day was that? Thursday, May 29, 1919.

Q.—Was Friday Decoration Day? A.—Yes.

INSISTS ON $35,000

"Levenson then said, 'I can't wait any longer. I'm going to Brighton Court to get a warrant.' I went to see Mr. Corcoran again. Mr. Corcoran called up Mr. Levenson again and discussed the case. He told Levenson not to go to court and coran trial.

DUGGAN IN COURT

Q.—Did you see Francis Duggan at that time? A.—At Brighton court on Saturday.

Q.—Before you went out to the court did you telephone to anyone? A.—Yes, either to the clerk or the judge of the Brighton District Court. I said after my talk with Corcoran that I wanted to be heard before any warrant was granted.

Q.—Did Levenson specify what he was going to ask a warrant for? A.—Yes, a statutory offense.

TRAVEL FROM ANY part of the United States to see Eleanor Duse, the great Italian. On Monday night she appeared in La Donna Del Mare at the Metropolitan Opera House. She will appear nine times more in New York; after that in two other American cities. Then this continent will see her no more.

Where she appears actors and actresses of any ambition should put on their understudies and see and study Duse, one of three great women that have appeared in a century and a half. Bernhardt and Rachel were the others.

Every woman that sees Duse will find inspiration in her frail body and the beautiful spirit that shines through it. Old women, especially, should see her. Her age is more beautiful than another woman's youth. She is feeble and she is old. It is like seeing the last faint rays of the setting sun. But such rays are infinitely more beautiful than the dull light of any candle, or the glare of any arc lamp. Others are candles, or arc lamps, compared to Duse.

SHE APPEARS before the cruel footlights old, thin. All the signs of physical weakness are there, cheeks hollow, hands and arms on which years are written.

You know that you see the last of a great career. She conquers ago by ignoring it. Her soul is young. Her gray hair is left gray, her white face is white, not painted, and shows its wrinkles. The eyes flame through it. In them are light and power enough.

AT HER appearance thousands applaud. No possessor of youth and beauty has ever been so applauded in the world's biggest city.

Back of it, are twenty centuries of culture, and back of that beautiful old face, a life of earnest study, goodness and devotion.

See Duse, you older women especially, and learn that the only thing you need fear from age is that the light will go out in your heart and mind before the life goes out of your body.

WHO SHALL sound the human heart or tell how it works? Judge Gary, the head of the great steel company, sat in a fine box watching Duse's first appearance and her sorrows moved him. Her genius made even the unimportant, impossile sorrows of an Ibsen play seem important.

Yesterday afternoon Gary astonished Wall Street, with the help of his fellow directors, by declaring an extra quarterly dividend of one-quarter of one per cent, on the common stock of United States Steel. That quarterly increase means one per cent. a year, which will amount to five million dollars added to the income of those that own the stock.

DID JUDGE GARY, who is past sixty, say: "I'll show that Italian lady that I can be just as young as she is?" Did he then use the telephone to tell fellow directors that he had decided, with their approval, to raise the dividend? Or was that addition to the regular dividend just intended to show . . . com-

MISS HAWLEY AN UNLOVED BRIDE

WANDA HAWLEY

Wanda Hawley, motion picture actress, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Allen B. Hawley in the Los Angeles courts on the grounds of non-support and extreme cruelty. The film star brought the action under the name of Selma Hawley.

MATE QUIT JOB, SAYS WANDA

Wins Divorce After She Tells the Court She Supported Him for Six Years

Los Angeles, Oct. 31.—Wanda Hawley, motion picture actress, was granted a divorce from Allen Burton Hawley, following her testimony she had supported her husband for the last six years.

The actress declared herself to have been an unloved bride, that her husband refused to work and that he continually asked for money.

Hawley also called his wife "a brainless fool," the actress alleged. They were married in Brooklyn in 1916, she stated.

Mrs. Hawley started the divorce suit last February, charging that her husband, a perfectly able-bodied man, did nothing more than sit around and watch her grow into prominence. The actress also charged Hawley with non-support and cruelty.

There is no doubt in Hollywood that Wanda is a hard worker. Ever since she came out a little town in Pennsylvania, some years ago, as a young singer of unusual ability, she has been very diligent.

When her voice failed, she turned to the films and appeared with Wallace Reid, Robert Warwick, Jack Holt and others.

MRS. STOKES DEFENDED BY MOTHER

Latter Declares Daughter Was Forced to Elope; Sobs as She Takes Stand

New York, Oct. 31.—The Stokes divorce case, having been adjourned in deference to one of the jurors, whose father died Monday night, will be resumed tomorrow with Mrs. Arthur Miller, frail, gray-haired mother of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, on the stand for further cross-examination at the hands of Max D. Steuer, chief of counsel for W. E. D. Stokes.

Mrs. Miller has testified that at the time Stokes charges her daughter was visiting the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, alleged co-respondent, Mrs. Stokes was lying at the point of death on the operating table of a Cincinnati hospital.

Mrs. Miller's statement, coupled with the irrefutable entries in the hospital record, casts the shadow of perjury, it is asserted, on the affidavits of Jessie A. Thornton, a janitor, and Agricola Beyers, a pantry maid, both colored, that in July and August of 1918, long ago Mrs. Stokes with Wallace.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the young wife, said he would prove to the jury that Stokes sought Thornton in the boiler room of the apartment house where Wallace lived and induced him to become a witness.

WIFE'S LIFE HISTORY

Steuer subjected Mrs. Miller to a searching cross-examination concerning Mrs. Stokes's life history, from the time she first went to school in Dedham, her birth place, at the age of seven.

Mrs. Arthur Miller.

Mrs. Miller did not give way to her feelings till she spoke of the death of her husband, when she said, she "crumbled to bits." Trouble shortly after Stokes' first attempt to drag his wife's reputation into the matter.

With tears coursing down her wrinkled cheeks, the mother told of Stokes' courtship of her daughter into a runaway marriage, and did not notify friends until some time after the wedding.

Had she known in time that a man, with a reputation like Stokes', was seeking her daughter's hand, representing himself to be twenty years younger than he actually was, she would have terminated her daughter's musical course at conservatories here and brought her home to Denver, Mrs. Miller said.

LAWYERS IN TILT

Before the mother was excused Steuer and Untermyer had a tilt when the latter asked that Steuer stand back from the witness so that her answers could be heard more distinctly.

Steuer backed away, saying:

"Untermyer forgets that he gets in front of me and turns his back on me when he examines a witness. He is a common scold and ——

The veteran defence attorney jumped up and said something which was drowned by the banging of his gravel by Justice Mahoney, who ordered Steuer to proceed with his examination.

QUIT STUDYING AT BEDTIME OR YOU'LL RIDE NIGHTMARE

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Dr. Dudley Reed of the physical culture department of the University of Chicago startled freshmen by telling them that studying just before going to bed would give them nightmares. He advised against it. Smoking he mentioned as a similar evil.

"Don't smoke or study before you go to bed," he warned, "or you'll have bad dreams."

The doctor also advised them to brush their teeth, have their tonsils out, keep their eyes up to standard and eat green apples.

NEW SOCIALIST CABINET NAMED IN SAXONY

Dresden, Saxony, Oct. 31 (AP).—The Saxon Diet today elected Dr. A. Fellisch as Premier by a vote of 46 to 38. Seventy-one deputies were present, but the German Nationalists left before the vote. The Communists cast no ballots.

Dr. Fellisch, a Socialist, was Minister of Economics before the recently deposed Socialist Communist government was established.

The Cabinet is composed entirely of Socialists, named by Dr. Fellisch, as follows: Herr Lieb, Minister of Interior; Herr Heid, Minister of Finance; Herr Graupe, Minister of Labor; Herr Neu, Minister of Justice, Herr Fleissner, Minister of Education.

Dr. Carl Heinze, named Federal Commissioner for Saxony after the Socialist-Communist government of Dr. Ziegner had been deposed by the Berlin government, informed the Saxon Diet his mission in Dresden consisted in the formation of a new Cabinet and that as soon as that had been accomplished he would leave the city.

Believe Krupp von Bohlen Out of Jail for Good

Dusseldorf, Oct. 31.—Baron Krupp von Bohlen, head of the Krupp plant, technically surrendered himself to the French prison authorities today at the end of the parole granted him in order that the negotiations between the Ruhr industrialists and the occupation authorities might be facilitated. He was allowed an additional week of freedom.

The opinion is expressed unofficially in both French and German circles that the Krupp plant head has seen his last days of imprisonment.

EARTHQUAKE RIPS STREETS IN SPAIN

Madrid, Oct. 31.—A sharp earthquake occurred at the village of Padrillo, near Logrono. Deep cracks opened the roads and it was necessary to stop work in the stone quarries because of the sulphurous fumes that issued therefrom.

WINE GRAFT IS CHARGED IN 'VET' PROBE

Washington, Oct. 31 (I.N.S.).—The senatorial investigation of the United States Veterans' Bureau today delved into graft charges by the American Legion.

Government records show the bureau paid Lucien B. Johnson, of San Francisco $105,000 for a hospital site at Livermore, Calif., and the Legion charged that $25,000 of this sum was never accounted for by Johnson.

Johnson was summoned to testify to his share in the transaction while a number of other witnesses were to tell of evidence revealed by an independent investigation of the deal.

OFFICIALS GIVEN WINE

Indications pointed to testimony having to do with harvesting of a crop of grapes from the tract by Johnson after it had been sold to the government. The Legion called a violent protest against this action and charged great quantities of wine was subsequently distributed among government officials.

Some of this "free" wine was said to have found its way to Washington, but Senate investigators are reported to have "no trace of it now."

In connection with the Livermore project, the committee also summoned Matthew O'Brien of San Francisco to explain a $64,000 fee paid him by the Veterans' Bureau for a set of construction plans which were never used. The Legion charged this fee was an "example of gross waste and extravagance."

T. R. CLAIMS FALSE.

Evidence already before the committee indicates thousands of tubercular soldiers are being paid compensation on claims incorrectly drawn. In most instances, the soldier declares his condition due to being gassed, whereas the testimony of medical experts has shown that the "poisonous gases" used by the Germans improved the condition of tubercular subjects.

NAZIMOVA PLAY GOES UNDER BAN

New York, Oct. 31.—"The Unknown Lady," a vaudeville sketch satirizing the New York divorce laws, in which Nazimova starred, has been dropped from the program of the Palace Theatre on order of E. F. Albee and other officials of the Keith organization. Special objection was made to a scene in an hotel room, where a man and woman had gone to allow detectives to obtain evidence for divorce. No objection, the Keith officials emphasized, was made to Nazimova's interpretation. The sketch has been on tour for nine weeks, and in many cities was termed sensational by the press.

Nazimova

The sketch was made at the request of Rev. John B. Kelly, chaplain of the Catholic Writers' Guild, it was learned today.

Mme. Nazimova, whose contract called for a $3,000 weekly salary, was paid $15,000, the full amount of the contract, after only two performances.

BOY CONFESSES HE KILLED HIS CHUM

Westminster, Oct. 31.—Samuel Brough, who shot and killed his chum, Hans Leino, seventeen years old, after a hunting trip here, has confessed to the authorities that he shot Leino when the latter persisted in aiming his own gun at another companion, Lawrence Collet, of East Princeton.

The true version of the shooting was wrung from the boy after the third youth, who was an eyewitness of the shooting, was located.

To Medical Examiner D. S. Wood worth of Fitchburg, Brough confessed he aimed the gun at Leino and pulled the trigger after he had remonstrated with the latter for pointing his own gun playfully at Collet.

Leino, Brough said, had just fired at a squirrel near his home and missed when he turned the gun on Collet. Brough then pointed his gun at Leino, he said, and saying, "I'll shoot you," pulled the trigger.

Brough's first story of the affair was to the effect that he discharged his gun accidentally as the other youth passed in front of him. He said nothing of the presence of the third youth.

An inquest into the shooting was ordered by Medical Examiner Woodworth to be held before Judge George R. Warfield in the Gardner District Court.

CITIZENS PROTEST HALLER RECEPTION

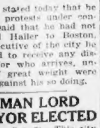
Protests against any reception by city officials to General Josef Haller, commander-in-chief of the armies of Poland, now on a visit in the United States, have been sent to Mayor Curley by Ukrainians and by the "Jewish Leader," a newspaper.



Gen. Haller.

Mayor Curley stated today that he would take the protests under consideration. He said that he had not invited General Haller to Boston, but as chief executive of the city he was duty bound to receive any distinguished visitor who arrives, unless reasons of great weight were brought forth against his so doing.

MARY AND "DOUG" RESENT RUMOR OF QUARREL OVER WOMAN

MAGAZINE SUED BY STARS

"Never So Happy as Now," Fairbanks Asserts in Denouncing Charge

Los Angeles, Oct. 31—Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, in a joint statement made public today, announced that they had wired instructions to their New York attorneys ordering the immediate filing of damage suits against an Eastern magazine which recently printed a story asserting that "America's sweetheart and her famous husband had quarreled over another woman."

The story in question was the beginning of a flood of rumors which have grown considerably in the last few weeks and reached their crest in a report that Mr. Fairbanks and Miss Pickford have separated.

Evelyn Brent, formerly Fairbanks' leading lady, whose name was coupled with these rumors, will join Miss Pickford and Mr. Fairbanks in the suit, according to a statement by B. P. Fineman, her husband.

SIGNED FOR LEAD.

Miss Pickford and Mr. Fairbanks and Mr. and Mrs. Fineman made a vigorous denial that there was any truth in stories printed by the eastern magazine and the other publication. The latest issues of theatrical publications in the East have published this story, although some of them did not use any names.

Miss Brent was signed for a leading part in Mr. Fairbanks' picture more than a year ago, but has never actually worked in the picture. Her contract with Mr. Fairbanks was terminated last May by mutual agreement.

NEVER SO HAPPY.

Amplifying the announcement of legal action, Mr. Fairbanks said:

"Mental perverts have been talking about me for years. Last year they periodically circulated rumors about my death. Only a short time ago Harold Lloyd called me up and said he heard I had just been killed. Mary and I were never so happy in our lives as we are now."

Close friends of Miss Pickford and Mr. Fairbanks said they failed to note any differences in the relations of the two. Mary and Doug have been seen together recently at luncheon, and only night before last appeared at the actors' benefit.

RELATIONS FRIENDLY.

In an interview, Miss Brent declared she knew of no reason why the rumors were circulated. She said:

"My dealings with Mr. Fairbanks have been entirely of a business nature. Since leaving the studio last May, I have seen him only twice, and then at a distance. Only the friendliest feeling exists between Miss Pickford and myself, as far as I know."

She explained that the seven months' contract and salary with Mr. Fairbanks was terminated only because there was a change in plans for the picture.

ALLEGED FORGER IS HELD IN NEW YORK

Charles R. Young, forty-three years old, a salesman, wanted here for forgery of a check for $2,000, has been arrested in New York as a fugitive from justice.

The Boston police were notified and are making arrangements for his extradition here. He was arrested on a warrant issued by the Superior Court of Boston.

Young is accused of having passed a forged check for $2,000 to the Willys-St. Clair Automobile Company of Boston on June 12, 1923.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Bonn's New City Officials All Ex-Convicts

Berlin, Oct. 31.—To prove the separatist movement in the Rhineland is not conducted for patriotic reasons officials issued information showing the entire municipal administration of Bonn is composed of ex-convicts. The chief of police was convicted as a robber and sentenced to five years' imprisonment, the report says, and Commissioner Alex Henderkett was convicted twenty-two times for engaging in the white slave traffic, blackmail, theft and assault.

CATTLE DISEASE ALARMS BRITISH

London, Oct. 31.—British Live-stock owners are alarmed by mysterious outbreaks of foot and mouth disease of which there have been no less than 109 in Great Britain since the end of August, resulting in the compulsory slaughtering of 4,766 cattle, 5,279 sheep and 1,827 hogs. For these the government has been obliged to pay nearly 150,000 pounds in compensation.

As the outbreaks have been far apart, the suggestion is made that the disease is spread intentionally and the breeders are endeavoring to get the Ministry of Agriculture to institute an inquiry. They also demand that police detectives be set to work to trace the supposed offenders.

TEACHER OUSTED IN LONG FIGHT

New Bedford, Oct. 31.—By a six to one vote the School Board dismissed Miss Alice T. Corrigan as principal of the Betsey B. Winslow Grammar School, marking the end of a fight twice carried into the courts.

The Corrigan case has been hanging fire since a year ago when a petition was signed by a majority of the teachers at the school, asking for a transfer. The reason assigned for dismissal was "the committee's dissatisfaction with her work, and belief that she has not demonstrated constructive leadership and necessary administrative capability."

FORMER BULGAR OFFICIAL SLAIN

Sofia, Oct. 31.—Nikolai Guenadieff, a former cabinet minister, was assassinated at his own doorstep last night, and M. Guesheff, former Bulgarian minister at Constantinople, who was with him, was seriously wounded. The police ascribe the crime to private vengeance.

HUSBAND SEEKS ELOPING WIFE

"As she did not return I began to make inquiries. I learned that she had driven to Plymouth in an automobile and drawn $900 from the bank there. I also learned that Marden had gone away in a new 1924 red sport roadster, and that no word had been received from him.

"When it became evident that Edith and Marden had eloped together, Mrs. Farmer, Edith's mother, collapsed, and is in a serious condition. John, our six-year-old boy, is too young to realize what his mother has done, but he misses her and cries for her.

"My household, which I had every reason to believe was a happy one when I left home yesterday morning, was demoralized.

"I believe Edith and Marden are en route for California. Marden has drive nacross the continent several times. I believe he has lured Edith away with tales of California, turned her head with promises and that she is living in a fool's paradise which will be wrecked when the money she took away with her is gone.

READY TO FORGIVE.

"They had about top hours start and are probably far away by now, but, although the red roadster is a speedy one, the telegraph is speedier, and I hope to intercept them. The police clear across the continent have been notified and we are sending out circulars with their pictures.

"I have no anger in my heart against Edith, for I believe that she has been duped. I am willing to forgive her the wrong she has done to me and our boy if she can be found."

HONG KONG SWEPT BY FLOOD OF RAIN

Hong Kong, Oct. 31. (A.P.)—One of the heaviest rainstorms in the history of Hong Kong—eleven inches between 11 a. m. yesterday and 4 today—caused considerable damage. Near the Asiatic Petroleum Company's new buildings the force of the water lifted up portions of macadamized roadways. The ground floors of many city offices were flooded. Minor landslides have been reported from various parts of the island.

PRICE OF BREAD IN PARIS IS BOOSTED

Paris, Oct. 31.—The price of bread in Paris beginning tomorrow will be increased one sou per kilo, estimated at his own doorstep last night, and M. Guesheff, former Bulgarian minister at Constantinople, who was with him, was seriously wounded. The police ascribe the crime to private vengeance.

LAWSON FIGHTS DIABETES

at Egypt, left here last week for Canada.

He had been staying at the cottage of his sister, Miss Mary F. Lawson, at Somerville, a short distance from Bar Harbor, since last Spring.

A Boston American representative who called at the Lawson cottage to inquire as to the health of the former financier, was received by Miss Lawson.

"My brother has gone to Toronto for the diabetes cure," she said. "I really don't know how long he has been gone. I returned from the West last Thursday and learned he was in Canada.

CASE NOT SERIOUS.

"As a mater of fact, Mr. Lawson has been in fairly good health except for the fact that he has suffered from diabetes for some time. It has not kept him in the house, however, and I don't think it is serious.

From villagers it was learned that Lawson has been a familiar figure all Summer and Fall, driving over the roads in his car.

He engaged a Somerville young man as chauffeur, and his gasoline bills are said to have been heavy.

FLASHED BIG ROLL.

In paying bills at the local stores the former scourge of Wall Street has displayed bank rolls of tempting size and in the eyes of the villagers is still a man of wealth.

Lawson came to Somerville last spring, as has been his custom for years, and was expected to return to Boston before the cold weather set in.

As far as any of the natives could see, he has been enjoying good health. He has been out in his motor chine a great deal, being fond of automobile riding, and has been seen strolling with a big police dog, along the shore.

When he decided to go to Toronto, he drove to Ellsworth, dismissed his chauffeur, and took the train for Bangor, making connections there for Canada. The length of his stay has not been decided.

Needham Woman Is Weaving Cloth for Coolidge Suit

President Coolidge is going to have a new suit of clothes before long, and the cloth will not cost him one cent.

Mrs. J. M. Jackson of Needham, who is weaving it daily, on a hand loom nearly 200 years old at the International Textile Exposition in Mechanic's Building, will have the required ten yards completed by the end of this week, and after it has been scoured she will send it to the White House with her compliments.

GARY FEARED GIRL'S ATTACK

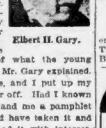
New York, Oct. 31.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, today emphatically but courteously denied any implied discourtesy to a young woman who last Monday accosted him in Wall street and tried to hand him a pamphlet in which financial leaders' salaries were compared with those of their clerks.

The young woman, who represented the union of bookkeepers, stenographers and accountants, which is seeking to unionize the "white collar" workers of the financial district, had complained that Mr. Gary had unceremoniously brushed her aside.



Elbert H. Gary.

"I hadn't the slightest idea of what the young woman wanted," Mr. Gary explained. "She startled me, and I put up my hand to ward her off. Had I known she wanted to hand me a pamphlet I certainly would have taken it and I would have read it with interest, too. I have no desire to be discourteous at any time, especially to a woman."

LIGHT WIND FOR SECOND RACE

hugging the western shore. There seemed to be less wind off the headlands than there was outside, but the skippers were still fighting for weather berths. Columbia decreased the gap until Pine had the Columbia's bowsprit over Bluenose's counter. Bluenose jibed and Columbia was slowly forging ahead.

LOST IN THE HAZE.

At 9:45 the schooners were lost in the haze of observers on the press boat. Early morning predictions of half a gale had failed and it began to look as though the race might not finish within the time limit.

At 9:55 Columbia had worked up to weather of Bluenose and was slightly ahead. The sun breaking through the haze showed the schooner engaged in a luffing match and headed at right angles to the course. The wind was less than six knots and hauling more to the east, and both skippers had their mainsails brond off to starboard. At 10 o'clock they squared away and headed for the mark.

The wind continued to haul to eastward and seemed to be freezing up. The schooners had gone less than five miles in an hour's sailing. At 10:10 they were less than a mile from the first mark. Columbia was to weather and a length or so ahead.

Columbia was the first to turn the first mark, Bluenose turning 1 minute 24 seconds later. The official times were:

Columbia, 10:28:20.
Blue Nose, 10:30:44.

At 11:05 the schooners had covered three miles of the second leg. The wind was evidently too light for Blue Nose to hold the challenger.

WOMAN TIRES OF FOUR HUSBANDS; NOW NO. 4 TIRES OF HER

HE CLAIMS 3 ILLEGAL MARRIAGES

Decision Reserved in Divorce Case of Mrs. Olive Christie Baker Eaton Walsh

Divorce fans filled the Middlesex Probate Court, East Cambridge, for the opening of the annulment proceedings brought against the much married Mrs. Olive Christie Baker Eaton Walsh by John W. Walsh, No. 49 Floral avenue, Newton Highlands, who is identified in the trial as husband No. 4 of the alluring Olive.

The case of the four-times married girl is on trial before Judge John C. Leggat.

Husband No. 4 was the first to take the witness stand. He is employed by the Boston & Albany Railroad and his wife says he doesn't earn enough to support her. She says she doesn't love him anyhow, so she doesn't care whether she loses No. 4 or not.

CLAIMS MARRIAGES ILLEGAL

Three of Olive's marriages were illegal, according to the testimony of Walsh. Today, he said, she is the legal wife of Austin L. Baker, a member of the Boston firm of Eldridge Baker Company.

Walsh said he married Olive on March 28, 1923, in Providence, R. I., and that he knew when he married her that she had already been married three times. He did not know, however, that these marriages had not been nullified by court action, he testified.

He said he knew that Olive had been married to John Christie in 1919 and that that marriage was later dissolved. He said Olive had told him that she lived with Christie in New York and New Jersey, and that after she tired of him she met Baker, then a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

After a while, Walsh said his wife told him, she, Baker and Christie met for a conference, and Christie agreed to allow her to get a divorce if Baker would satisfy the expenses of the courts and settle the attorneys' fees. This was carried out, and Olive was married to Baker at White River Junction, Vt.

Walsh further testified that his wife tired of Baker after six months and was married to Sherbourne Eaton.

Melville Baker then took the stand. He said he married Olive in 1916. Ten days after she had obtained a divorce from Christie. He said his wife left him in 1919 and was married to Sherbourne Eaton, a Harvard graduate engaged in the stock brokerage business. He said his wife had overlooked the formalities of a divorce, annulment, or other legal steps to guarantee her freedom to remarry.

TIRED OF FIRS TMATE

Then Mrs. Walsh took the stand in her own defense. She spoke in a clear voice, slowly and distinctly.

She was married to John Christie in 1910, when she was fifteen years old, she said. She is now twenty-eight. They lived together about five years. She tired of him. She met Baker. Then came the divorce and her marriage to Baker.

She said she was married in White River Junction, Vt., because her attorneys told her she could not legally vowed in this State within six months.

Knowing her marriage was illegal in Massachusetts and would not stand in a Massachusetts court, she said, she married Walsh. She said she did not consider that as a transgression against the law because obviously, if she was not legally wed to Baker, she could not obtain a divorce from him.

Olive was recently arrested on a bigamy charge growing out of the annulment proceedings brought by Walsh, and her own statement that she would continue to remarry "until I find the great love thrill I have yet to experience." She was released when she furnished $2,500 bail. The charges still pending.

Decision in the annulment proceedings has not been reached.

TODAY

petitors and the world in general that in high finance, as on the stage, age doesn't keep you from being vigorous?

McADOO LETS it be known that he is in the race for President. Of course he is, being the most conspicuous Democratic candidate.

Hiram Johnson will be in the ring also. This is a free for all, and Hiram Johnson probably can get more votes in Presidential primaries than any other Republican. Albert Lasker will work for Johnson as he did for Harding. He's a first class dynamo.

ONE OF Mr. Ford's secretaries says he wouldn't accept the nomination for the Presidency. But, it isn't Liebold, the real secretary, and probably doesn't mean much.

Mr. Ford has his days for Presidential running and his days for forgetting all about it. If the nomination should come on the right day, he would probably take it. Meanwhile he's starting a plant near Philadelphia, to cost twenty or thirty millions, and hire a few thousand men at high wages. That's not bad politics.

EVERYBODY NOTICED the death of Steinmetz, great electrical scientist. Everyody praised his services to this nation, to industry. Everybody recognized the fact that his genius added tens of millions to the value of a great corporation, gave work to thousands.

There is one thing to add. Steinmetz was poor, a hunchback cripple, a sickly Jewish boy when he came to this country. If he came today, he would be turned back promptly.

How does that strike you?

ENGLAND loses a good servant and a faithful man in Bonar Law. Luckily, she can say, as the old English King said, when Earl Percy was killed at the battle of Chevy Chase, that she has many as good as he.

Whatever else you may think of England, you have got to admit that she gets faithful service from many true and able sons.

JAIL BIGAMIST CHASED IN 5 STATES

J. W. Coleman. Mrs. Coleman No. 1.

Fall River, Oct. 31.—Search through five States for James W. Coleman ended in Philadelphia with his arrest on the charge of bigamy.

The police are now searching for Mrs. Coleman, No. 2, who was Ida Messier, eighteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Messier of No. 104 Elsbree street. It is believed she has been held captive there by Coleman.

Coleman is thirty-six years old. He came here in 1921, and his artistic creations in French pastry while cook for the Mellen Catering Company, won first the admiration of pretty Ida Messier, his pantry girl, and finally her love.

The girl, who had been named "Miss Fall River" in a beauty contest, was married to him in November, 1922.

The two honeymooned to New York, then to Philadelphia. A long silence was broken by a note in which the daughter declared she was being held prisoner in New York. The parents hurried to New York, where they fruitlessly searched the streets for weeks. Then they appealed to the New York police.

Then wife No. 3 appeared. She is Mrs. Margaret Berry Coleman, once a shining figure in the Shubert revues and a well-known concert singer. She lives on Allston street, Beacon Hill.

Mrs. Berry Coleman was married to Coleman, then manager of a New York hotel, in November, 1919, but after a life of uninterrupted bickering they parted she said.

SAVE STUDENT DROWNING IN POND

Worcester, Oct. 31.—The Clark University annual rope pull nearly ended in a fatality when J. Yank Sachs, a sophmore, collapsed while carrying a classmate across University Pond. Sachs was helped ashore by students and carried to Clark gymnasium where he was given first aid treatment by Dr. Henry L. McCluskey, who said his collapse was due to nervous and physical exhaustion. Sachs had just come out of the rope pull when the sophomores decided to wade across the pond. Thomas J. Gannon, crew coxswain, was to short to wade and couldn't swim. Sachs volunteered to carry him. When nearly across Sachs fell face foremost into the water.

LOST PURSE WITH $315 IS RETURNED

A purse containing $315 representing the contributions of shopmates of John Sperry to his widow, was returned to Mrs. Sperry at her home, No. 11 Moody street, Dorchester, two weeks after it was lost, although the purse contained no name or address.

A driver who found the purse told a friend, who told the butcher where Mrs. Sperry does her marketing. Mrs. Sperry mentioned her loss to the butcher, and the latter tracing the driver through a mutual friend, effected the return of the purse.

Bryce Allans to Spend the Winter on Riviera, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE coming assemblies will be quite Allanless.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce J. Allan of Beacon street and Beverly Cove are now sailing o'er the briny deep, bound for a Winter on the Riviera.

Mrs. Allan, who was formerly Miss Anna Palfrey, has been a leading figure at Boston's all-important affairs, the Assemblies. As I presume everyone knows, these dances were not held during the war, and it was only last Winter, in fact, that they were resumed.

Once more could society's stateliest dowagers "engineer their trains" on truly holy ground. Nor did they need to fear even the boldest of trespassers, for to enter the sacred portals of the assemblies is not an accomplishment—it's an heritage.

In honor of the occasion Mr. and Mrs. Allan didn't sail for Europe until mid-Winter, so that Mrs. Allan might take her place in the receiving line of the season's first assembly, held on January 5. This year the assemblies will take place on January 4 and February 8, the Copley-Plaza, as usual, the scene of action.

The Allans, by the way, belong to that ever-increasing contingent of Bostonians which finds Europe such a pleasant stamping ground for the colder months. During the Summer Mr. and Mrs. Allan are frequently to be found at "Allanbank," their North Shore estate at Beverly Cove. Whenever they are on the shore, "Allanbank" is usually the scene of numerous jolly entertainments. Mrs. Allan's sister, Mrs. Cuy Norman (Louisa Palfrey), whose Winter residence is in Washington, is also a member of the Beverly Cove colony.

Mrs. F. M. Trainer (Curtiss Photo)

MRS. FOSTER M. TRAINER (Priscilla Bigelow) went over to Gotham to act as bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Cynthia Bigelow and J. J. Hinton of New York. The ceremony was solemnized yesterday at the Fifty-sixth street home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Bigelow.

The bride, who is a granddaughter of Mr. Alanson Bigelow of Chestnut Hill and has a host of connections here, had her mother as matron of honor. The other attendants included Mrs. Talman Bigelow, Miss Charlotte K. Demorest and Miss Isabella Wood.

MISS EDITH PARKER, who's pictured above as she was snapped helping at a recent charity function, shared honors with Miss Ruth Bremer at a dance given for them at the Chilton Club last week. The dinner, which was given by the two buds' mothers, Mesdames J. Harleston Parker and S. Parker Bremer, was one of the many which preceded the dance given for Miss Martha Bigelow.

Ellen Curtis

MRS. CHARLES PELHAM CURTIS and her daughter, Miss Ellen Curtis, have sailed for Europe to meet Mr. Curtis, who is returning from a prolonged big game hunt in the African jungles.

MYSTIC TOLD WIFE HUSBAND 'WAS UNTRUE'

Mrs. Ida Gagnon, Back Bay seamstress, deserted her husband when, she alleges, information given her

J. H. Gagnon

Mrs. Gagnon

by a fortune teller to the effect that her husband was unfaithful to her was substantiated by a telltale letter she found in his pocket.

As a result her husband, Henry J. Gagnon, a chauffeur in the employ of socially prominent people, has been granted a divorce in Suffolk County Court on the grounds of desertion. The custody of a four-year-old child was awarded the mother.

Baby Gagnon

Two years ago Mrs. Gagnon's suit for divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment and desertion was interrupted when Gagnon was arrested as a deserter from the U. S. Navy.

The granting of the divorce will not end the litigation between husband and wife, however, Mrs. Gagnon declared. She is now preparing to sue her former husband for money which she claims he owes her. Some of the money was spent, she alleges, on a diamond ring he gave a Chelsea sweetheart.

Mrs. Gagnon was formerly a nurse at Laconia, N. H. Her father is a hosiery manufacturer there. The couple were married in Laconia in 1918.

LOWELL KLAN HOLDS MEMBERSHIP RALLY

Lowell, Oct. 31.—The Ku Klux Klan held a meeting for the purpose of recruiting new members in Odd Fellows Hall, Middlesex street.

More than 100 persons attended, including members and prospective members.

They were addressed by an official of the Klan, a former minister, who explained the aims of the organization. Application blanks were distributed among the prospective members.

HARVARD GRAD HAS AVERAGE OF ONE CHILD

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Professor E. A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin told the Middle Western States Birth Control conference, in session here, that a Harvard graduate has on the average less than one son; woman college graduate has about half a daughter; American families of moderate means average three children, and parents who constantly appeal to charity for support have families averaging six children.

The birth rate among people who send their children to college is on the decline, he said. Inquiries among 630 college women disclosed they were members of families averaging 3.15 children; their parents of families containing five children, and their grandparents of families averaging more than six children, Professor Ross said.

WORLD GETTING CROWDED.

"One-quarter of the population of the United States produces as many children as the remaining three-quarters," declared Professor Ross. "In this quarter are the charity cases, the feeble-minded and often the criminals. It is this fact, that the least desirable are reproducing from two to three times as fast as the desirable that makes us fear for the safety of the world."

Birth control, he asserted, would help restore the balance.

"The human family, at the present rate, will redouble in sixty years," he said. "In 200 years there will be ten times the present population. Even if fed by a fall of heavenly manna, mankind would be so crowded that life would not be worth living."

MUST CHECK POPULATION.

After a careful examination of the possible checks to population as affected by humanitarianism and modern medical science, Professor E. M. East of the department of biology of Harvard University, told the Y. M. C. A. Forum, "There remains the conscious limitation of the family by the forethought of the individual. It is the only recourse which civilization has left.

"There is no hope of scientific advance providing a sufficient continuous increase in food products for the increasing millions," he added. "If the world can support only a limited number of people in comfort and happiness, then the population of the world must be kept within that number."

LOUISE BROWN

On Friday evening, in the main ball room of the Copley-Plaza, a concert program will be given by Mme. Ester Ferrabini Jacchia, soprano; Louise Brown, dancer, and Rolland Tapley, violinist, in aid of the Simmons College endowment.

These artists are well known to Boston music lovers. Mme. Jacchia having appeared in the title role of Carmen with the San Carlos Opera Company last season, and as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Louise Brown, a Boston girl, who has won fame as Sally in "Sally, Irene and Mary," now playing at the Wilbur Theatre, will give a group of classic and ballet dances.

Mr. Tapley is one of the youngest members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and is violinist of marked ability. The Ampico in the Chickering Piano will be the accompanist for these artists. A reception and ball will follow the concert.

U. S. MAN'S GIFT AIDS PRINCESS LOUISE

Paris, Oct. 31.—Princess Louise of Belgium, in an interview in Le Matin, said she had had many kindly offers of help at the time of the death of her consort, Count Mattachich, but that the most touching was from an American.

"The day after the Count died," the Princess said, "an American woman came to my house. She was so insistent that I let her in.

"'Madame,' she said, 'I have received a cablegram from America about you. There is a man over there who does not wish his name known but who has plumbed the depth of your woe. He telegraphed instructions to his Paris bankers, and I bring you his offer. He wants you to put flowers form him on Count Mattachich's tomb and hopes that the rest of the sum will help you during the first days of your mourning.'

"Well, it kept me for eight days. And it is because of gifts and presents that I still have a roof over my head and that Mattachich was not borne in a pauper's hearse to a pauper's grave."

CHARGE ABUSES AT STATE FARM FOR WOMEN

New Haven, Oct. 31.—Governor Charles Templeton was attacked by the Connecticut Civic Protective Association for failure to remove the directors of the State Farm for Women at Niantic after charges of scandalous conduct of the farm had been brought by Mrs. Hopers of this city, a member of the directorate. Some of the charges of the association were:

Confining girls in a chicken house in their night clothes for infraction of rules.

Girls who broke rules fed only twice a day and then only bread and milk.

Treating two girls so badly that they went insane.

Keeping offenders against rules in an unheated, dark basement, one of the girls dying after being confined there.

Imprisoning girls in those cells who were about to become mothers.

Drunkenness on the part of a physician, visible to the women inmates.

Performing operations for appendicitis upon inmates without notifying their parents.

Confining inmates affected with contagious diseases with those who were not.

Confining girls of tender age with older confirmed criminals.

Miss Ruth Peterson, superintendent at the farm, has resigned. The charges promise to be made an issue in the next State election.

Charges that Daniel H. Coakley, disbarred Boston lawyer, is a "dominating factor" in the present city administration of Cambridge, were made by Godfrey L. Cabot, who is opposing Mayor Edward W. President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard, Professor Albert Bushnell Hart of the same university and Mrs. Anna M. Tillinghast joined with Mr. Cabot in assailing Mayor Quinn's administration.

TOOL OF COAKLEY.

"Throughout the whole of Mayor Quinn's administration the funds of the City of Cambridge have been in the hands of a tool of Coakley's," Cabot charged, "and Quinn is trying to serve two masters, the City of Cambridge on the one hand and Daniel H. Coakley on the other. These two are diametrically opposed to each other.

Professor Hart, introduced the candidate as "the man in the State of Massachusetts to whom we are indebted more than any other for the removal of Tufts and Pelletier."

Before Mr. Cabot addressed the women, Dr. Eliot gave his reasons for supporting Mr. Cabot's candidacy. He said he had lived in Cambridge for sixty-seven years and that during the tenure of office of the present Mayor he had seen the city become a less and less desirable place of residence.

Dr. Eliot attacked the appointments of Mayor Quinn which, he declared, were made solely to further the Mayor's political "progress." He said the present head of the water department was absolutely lacking in all knowledge he should possess regarding his duties and that the superintendent of streets was a jeweler and knew nothing of the engineering tasks with which he should be familiar.

Mrs. Anna M. Tillinghast

Godfrey Cabot

"These two appointments are typical of all Mayor Quinn's appointments since he became Mayor," Dr. Eliot said. "They illustrate his principles. All have been determined by political motives."

Having contracts, the water supply, city tax rate and the police department all were attacked by Mr. Cabot, but his heavy artillery was used against the Coakley influence which he declares was felt through the hand of Mayor Quinn's appointee as city treasurer, Henry Leon.

OUTSIDE INFLUENCE.

"Quinn says there is no outside influences controlling the affairs of the city of Cambridge," the speaker declared. "Coakley in 1918 flatly demanded that Captain Gordon be made chief of police, but as Gordon only passed third in the civil service examinations, not even all the efforts of the Mayor could obtain his appointment."

Mr. Cabot remarked that though Captain Gordon was involved in the Tufts and Pelletier scandals, no apparent effort was made by Mayor Quinn to have him removed.

Mrs. Tillinghast said the man to be elected Mayor should be of strong moral character, integrity, unquestioned honor and courage, and that Mr. Cabot possessed all these qualifications.

Mayor Quinn, in a speech delivered in Cypress Hall, Cambridge, characterized the attack of President Emeritus Eliot as "unjust and unwarranted."

Calls Husband Cruel

MARJORIE RAMBEAU

An amended divorce complaint charging desertion was filed at San Francisco for Marjorie Rambeau, actress, against Hugh Dillman McGaughey, of New York.

The original bill charged cruelty. Miss Rambeau is playing in Los Angeles.

GIRL FAINTS AT ATTACK TRIAL, IS UNNOTICED

Miss Mary Kelley of Malden, twenty-year-old plaintiff in an attack case against George L. Gagne, No. 84 Fulton street, Medford, collapsed on the witness stand during a long cross-examination by Associate Justice Thomas P. Riley of Malden in the Middlesex Superior Court.

The court room was warm and crowded. Several times the girl tottered on her feet. When Judge Kirk adjourned the court, she fell to the floor, where she lay unconscious for several minutes before Clerk Fred Bean chanced to find her.

A physician was called and the girl was taken home.

Miss Kelley testified that she had gone to the home of Gagne on Fulton street, Medford, in answer to an employment advertisement. While she was there, she said, Gagne tried to induce her to drink a glass of wine.

When she refused, Gagne grabbed her by the hair, and tore her clothing from her in the struggle which ensued, she testified.

She said she made her escape by jumping from a window. Riley, who was counsel for Gagne, was unable to make her change her story.

CARPENTERS MAKE CONSPIRACY CHARGE

W. A. and H. A. Root, general contractors; Beuly & Lawson, subcontractors, and the carpenters' unions of Greater Boston have filed a bill in equity in the Suffolk Superior Court alleging that the iron workers' unions have joined together in a conspiracy to take away from the carpenters' unions all the work of installing metallic doors, windows, frames and hardware.

WIFE INCENSED, SAYS AN ENEMY INSERTED 'AD'

Mrs. Ralph L. Preble, pretty twenty-three-year-old wife of a former Dorchester boy, now in Port Limon, Costa Rica, read the following advertisement and gasped in amazement:

"My wife, Mrs. Ralph L. Preble, having left my bed and board, I shall not be responsible for any bills contracted by her in my name from this date, Oct. 1, 1923."

Mrs. Preble declares it would have been impossible for him to have inserted the advertisement, and added that it was done by some malicious person who seeks to injure her.

"I left my husband June 16 to return to this country," she said. "Obviously he couldn't have called at the newspapers and inserted such an advertisement. I am in communication with him."

Asked if he contemplated a divorce action, she said:

"I am in conference with my lawyers."

Mrs. Preble lives with her mother in Wollaston. Mr. Preble's mother resides in Dorchester.

MILK PRICE JUMPS A CENT HERE; DROPS IN PHILADELPHIA

An increase of one cent a quart in the price of milk, to take effect on and after the first of November, was announced by the sales committee of the New England Milk Producers' Association. The wholesale price of milk, delivered in Boston, will hereafter be 9½ instead of 8½ cents a quart. In explanation of the price increase, the sales committee declares that the costs of milk production always mount up in Winter when the cows must be fed on grain, and that this year there are unusually high prices on feed and labor. It is expected that the cent increase will be passed on to the consumer by the retailers.

NEW BILL KILLS FILIPINO HOPES

Manila, Oct. 31 (AP).—Additional fuel has been added to the political flames here by a cablegram from Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana to the publisher of the Manila Times predicting that a bill will be introduced at the next session of Congress making the Philippines a permanent and integral part of the United States.

Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate and an active opponent of independence, in commenting on Senator Walsh's cable-gram said he did not believe the American administration would sponsor or approve such a bill.

The contemplated measure, he declared, would obviously contravene the promised aid by Congress, as set forth in the Jones law pledging ultimate independence for the Philippines.

More Troops Start for Mindanao Trouble Zone

Manila, Oct. 31 (A.P.).—One hundred additional Philippine constabulary troops left today for the Island of Mindanao aboard the coast guard cutter Mindoro.

While no recent word has been received from Governor-General Wood, who is at Parang, Mindanao, investigating the recent Moro uprisings, the sending of reinforcements is believed to indicate that the situation is more serious than he first thought.

The most recent Moro outbreak occurred Sunday, October 14, in the Lanao district of Mindanao, when a constabulary detachment of ten men and three school teachers were massacred.

WARN COOLIDGE OF BANK PLOT IN WHEAT DEAL

Washington, Oct. 31.—Senator Lynn J. Frazier, North Dakota, today charged that the committee of bankers and grain dealers who called at the White House urging upon President Coolidge that the administration finance the sale of 200,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat in Europe, are engaged in a plan to make fortunes for themselves.

Senator Frazier said the combination now has several million bushels of wheat which was bought from farmers at low prices, in storage warehouses and that the committee is "now trying to unload it at high prices to be guaranteed by the government."

Frazier expressed the hope that President Coolidge "will not be hoodwinked by the schemes of these bankers and middle men who are interested in themselves and not in the farmers."

The delegation which called upon the President included George E. Mayo, president of Armour Grain Company, Chicago; George A. Roberts and C. E. Lewis of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, and W. E. Gould of Minnesota. Senator Frazier said:

"Those familiar with the wheat situation would like all of these gentlemen to tell President Coolidge just how much of this 200,000,000 bushels of wheat is actually in the hands of the farmers and how much bought at cheaper prices is in the elevators of the middlemen.

"Of course, we all know that the wheat growers now hold very little wheat and therefore the real thing this committee of bankers and speculators is after is to unload cheaply bought wheat at high prices, with the government guaranteeing payment."

SINCLAIR JOCKEY IS HELD IN AUTO DEATH

New York, Oct. 31.—Lester Mark Fator, jockey, riding for Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, was indicted on a charge of manslaughter in the first degree today in the death of Hugh McKeon, a salesman, said to have been struck by Fator's auto as the jockey sped to the Empire City race track.

At the same time McKeon's widow filed suit against Fator for $50,000. Fator denied his machine struck McKeon. His attorney said the jockey would prove an alibi.

ACTOR IS AUTOSTROP CONVERT

Eddie Dowling, bright star in "Sally, Irene and Mary," now playing at the Wilbur Theatre, heard the girls in his chorus talking so much about the good points of the Boston American and paid his 36 cents and carried one of the Autostrops back with him to his quarters in Brookline.

Eddie said he didn't know out what the girls were just trying to kid him about the razor, but he was willing to risk 36 cents on anything once. Eddie tried out the razor—saw Eddie in the window of the Auto-Strop all the time. If you can get into the Wilbur before the shows Boston, just take a close look at the clean shaven face of the star and and you will know why is an Auto-Strop booster.

"I now feel clean as a whistle," said Eddie as he stroked his mattnee-idol features, "nothing like this little old razor in all my travels to put me right. Don't know why every man in Boston hasn't got one. I guess those girls knew what they were talking about."

There you are. There is the story of Eddie. Why don't you follow in his steps and get one of these razors before they are all gone? Better hurry as they are going fast these days; and good things cannot last forever.

DAN CASWELL WEDS, QUITS DRINKING

MRS. "DANNY" CASWELL

"DANNY" CASWELL

JUNE WAITED 2 YEARS FOR "DANNY"

Love has found a way at last for "Danny" Caswell, disinherited young Cleveland millionaire, and June Castleton, former "Follies" girl.

After two long years of waiting, while the marital difficulties of Caswell and his former wife, Miss Jessie Reed, also of the "Follies," were being settled the couple are now man and wife.

They were married secretly in Philadelphia, October 18, Danny's twenty-fourth birthday.

FORGIVEN BY MOTHER

And to add to the happiness of the couple, they have received a wedding present from the Caswell's millionaire mother from her home in Cleveland in the form of a promise to forgive Danny and his young bride, provided he secures a job.

Danny forfeited his right to the Caswell millions three years ago when he married Jessie Reed, at that time playing in the "Follies" side by side with Miss Castleton.

HONEYMOONING IN HUB.

The newlyweds, now honeymooning in Boston, appeared supremely happy together and are confident that they will make an ideal husband and wife. They are now looking forward, they say, to the time when they will be welcomed by Danny's wealthy mother.

When Caswell first fell in love with Miss Castleton he was still the husband of Jessie Reed. The latter at that time accused Miss Castleton of stealing the love of her husband.

The marriage of the couple, Caswell explained, was a very simple affair. Nothing but ginger ale and sandwiches.

"And furthermore," "Danny" said, "I have promised June that as long as she loved me I would never touch another drop. If it wasn't for liquor, June would have been my first wife. I never really loved any other girl."

The couple are staying with June's parents in the Back Bay, while on their honeymoon here.

BROKERS ARE ACCUSED OF BUCKETING

Evidence Against the Jones & Baker Company Going Before Two Grand Juries

New York, Oct. 31.—District Attorney Joab H. Banton and United States Attorney William Hayward today prepared to lay before Federal and County Grand Juries bucketing operations of the Jones & Baker brokerage house.

The concern had a large branch office in Boston. It was one of the biggest marginal brokerage firms in the world.

Attorney Banton announced that he had sent to the United States Court for the complete record of the hearing before Judge Goddard, at which W. R. Jones and Jackson B. Sells, who constituted the brokerage firm, had testified.

This testimony, published exclusively by the New York American, carried Jones' admission that his firm had operated along lines common only to bucket shops.

BEFORE TWO JURIES.

Banton declared that he would present several cases against the firm before the November Grand Jury, which will begin its deliberations tomorrow. Simultaneously Colonel Hayward's office will present before a Federal Grand Jury to lay before it certain cases carrying the charges of mail fraud.

Colonel Hayward was also intensely interested in the facts made known in regard to the manner in which the Jones & Baker bankruptcy was arranged.

Jones admitted that he had sent the petitioning creditors to the attorney who subsequently acted for them.

HINT OF PLOT MADE.

This, it was pointed out, is entirely at variance with affidavits made at the time of the closing of Jones & Baker. According to these affidavits the failure was involuntary.

According to Jones' statement, as interpreted by the United States attorney's office, there was nothing involuntary about the bankruptcy.

Additional admissions were dragged out of W. R. Jones, head of the defunct brokerage house, by congressman Loring M. Black, Jr., who represents a number of creditors. Those admissions are the basis upon which action by the county and Federal prosecuting authorities will be based.

STOMACH PUMP USED TO SAVE BABY'S LIFE

Baby Frances Ayott, eighteen months old, No. 237 Elm street, Cambridge, drank some varnish she found while playing under the kitchen sink in her home during the temporary absence from the room of her mother. Quick work on the part of police and the prompt use of a stomach pump by physicians at the Cambridge City Hospital saved the baby's life. She is now on the road to recovery.

Living in Jail

MRS. EDGAR BUNNELL
Wife of Vermont's alleged slayer lives in jail while attending his trial.

ON TRIAL FOR DEATH OF VT. LOAN MAN

Guildhall, Vt., Oct. 31.—Edgar Bunnell, a Canaan farmer, was placed on trial before Judge Frank D. Thompson in the Essex County Court for the murder of Job Cross, a well-to-do farmer and money lender.

The body of Cross, with bullet wounds in the head, was found beside the road near Canaan Hill on July 19 last, after he had been missing for a week.

At the preliminary hearing testimony was given that Cross had called at Bunnell's home on the day of his disappearance to collect money due on a mortgage. Bunnell was indicted last week.

Cross, according to the authorities, held a mortgage on the Bunnell farm on Canaan Hill. He disappeared after he went to the farm to collect on the mortgage.

Cross' body was found near Wallace Pond on the Canaan-Norton road by a posse of several hundred citizens, after two days' search.

Bunnell, when questioned, said he and Cross left the Bunnell house late in the afternoon to see a third man on business. He said he took his gun with him and hunted deer on his way home. He said Cross went home when he left him.

Bunnell joined the searchers, but was not present when Cross' body was found partially buried beneath freshly cut boughs in a back field corner, with a bullet hole in the head.

Mrs. Bunnell and her children, here to attend the trial, have been living in the jail, owing to lack of accommodations in the town.

Los Angeles—In a collision between a fire engine and a police automobile twenty-one persons were injured.

TO CLEAR 22 BILLIONS IN 29 YEARS

Public Debt of United States to Be Retired by 1952, Winston Announces

Washington, Oct. 31.—Retirement of the public debt of the United States, now totaling $22,100,000,000, will be accomplished substantially by 1952, Under Secretary of the Treasury Garrad B. Winston informed the Investment Bankers' Association here.

In explaining the government is returning for other investments almost $500,000,000 a year, Mr. Winston pointed out that this fiscal year the United States Treasury will spend $500,000,000 in purchasing its own securities for retirement.

In addition, under the terms of the British debt settlement, $160,000,000 a year in United States securities will be bought by the British government from holders and turned in for retirement.

"To take the problem presented by the next five years," said he, "there matures in that period $4,000,000,000 of notes and $3,400,000,000 of third issue Liberty bonds—a total of $7,400,000,000. The sinking fund will take care of $1,620,000,000. There is therefore almost $6,000,000,000 of government refunding to be done in the next five years.

REFUNDING OPERATIONS.

"What form these offerings will take cannot be determined now, but will depend on the condition of the money market at the time the offerings are made. It is to be remembered these will be purely refunding operations and do not mean the government will need new money from the investment market.

"The other phase of Treasury financing is the current quarterly issuance of Treasury certificates. These normally aggregate about $1,000,000, and at present there is outstanding $370,000,000 worth maturing December 15 next and $370,000,000 maturing next March 15."

The present funded debt of the United States, the Under Secretary explained, consists of approximately the original $1,000,000,000 of pre-war debt, almost $15,000,000,000 of the four Liberty Loans, $760,000,000 of the 4½ per cent. Treasury Bonds of 1947-52, $4,00,000,000 of Treasury certificates maturing in less than a year, and a third of a billion dollars of Treasury savings certificates.

NO FURTHER DRAIN.

Answering whether the Treasury will take from or contribute to the reservoir of money in the country in its operations, Mr. Winston said:

"We cannot guarantee the future. If new, extraordinary expenditures are authorized new financing may be necessary or debt reduction slowed up or stopped, but under conditions as they now exist I see no future drain by the Treasury."

The statement is taken to reflect Mr. Winston's position on the soldier bonus, which the Treasury has opposed all along on the ground it would interfere with the debt retirement.

Mrs. Heineman to Name Dancer in Her Suit

MRS. FLORENCE F. HEINEMAN

Holding the bullet extracted from her shoulder after she had attempted suicide. She "couldn't stand losing the love of the most wonderful man in the world," she said at the time.

The three-times-postponed suit for separate maintenance of Mrs. Florence F. Heineman of Somerville against her dancing-master-husband, Otto F. Heineman, is scheduled for hearing today in the Middlesex Probate Court.

On each of the three occasions the suit has been called up, one of involved parties has failed to appear.

Mrs. Heineman alleges infidelity, non-support and cruel and abusive treatment.

Otto F. Heineman

Professor Heineman conducts the School Street Dancing Academy in Somerville. With his wife, he is the inventor of several of the more refined dancing steps. He is president of the American Dancing Masters' Association.

Mrs. Heineman threatens to name in her suit a petite blonde from Jamaica Plain, who once danced for the Heinemans in their Somerville academy.

So far as the world knew, the Heinemans were a happily married couple until last Spring, when at the height of a gay party at the dancing academy, Mrs. Heineman retired to her apartment above the dance hall and attempted to end her life with a revolver. The bullet went through her shoulder. Mrs. Heineman said at the time that the shooting was accidental.

Two weeks after the "accident," Mrs. Heineman filed papers in the separate maintenance suit. At that time she said the shooting was not accidental. When questioned as to the reason for the attempt on her life, she replied,

"I just couldn't stand losing the love of the most wonderful man in the world. I could see no other way out of the difficulty."

Mrs. Heineman stated on the eve of the trial that she is determined to block her husband from putting her aside for "the little blonde" who was formerly employed at the academy.

"When my husband left me," Mrs. Heineman said, "the most psychology to induce me to commit suicide. We quarrelled, then he told me it would be better for me to end my life, and left me. I stood it as long as I could, and then I followed his suggestion. But now I'm glad the pistol missed my heart."

'SAW GIRL HUGGING BEMIS'

"Lightning Jack" Says He Shot Only After Lynn Youth Ignored Halt Command

Chief of Police John A. ("Lightning Jack") Hayes, Beverly's shooting chief, testified at the trial of Frank Bemis, Jr., that Miss Evelyn Spinney, Lynn high school girl, was hugging and caressing Bemis, while the latter was driving a party of Lynn young people on their return from a dance through North Beverly.

When the machine refused to stop on orders of Chief Hayes, the latter fired two shots, wounding Miss Spinney and John Winston of Lynn.

Bemis was arrested for operating his machine recklessly and without a license and refusing to stop when ordered. In Salem District Court he was found guilty, but appealed to the Superior Court.

Hayes told the court that Miss Spinney and young Bemis were close together, and that it was almost impossible to see Bemis operating his car.

The automobile party had attended a dance at Swampscott and later went for a short ride through Hamilton and were on their way home to Lynn when stopped

ED HOWE FINDS FLAPS ARE TAME ON BROADWAY

New York, Oct. 31.—Ed Howe of the Atchison Globe had his first look at New York in fifteen years, and his heart has not skipped a beat.

Describing his impressions today, he said he couldn't see a great deal of difference between the Metropolis and his own Kansas home. He seemed to see little through the Atchison eyes. Broadway flappers couldn't draw a second glance from him.

"We have 'em in Atchison," he said, "and they drink bootleg, too." People he met on surface cars talked with him friendly like, just as they do in Atchison.

As he shouldered the Broadway crowds in a way to belie his 70 years, he was asked if he walked for exercise.

"Hell, no," he replied. "I work. I shock wheat, pitch hay and make garden on Potato Hill Farm.

BUT Reilly only smiled as he saw her. She found a seat, sat down; began, very softly, to tune her harp. Reilley stood watching, and listening to the sweet music of the harp. It stirred his earliest memories. Ah, here was music—true music! Not such cheap stuff as came still from the great house beyond the Schuyler garden. But he signed, low:

"'Tis a thankless task you've set yourself, Pat," he said.

"What do you mean?"

"Why, to try and sing yourself back into Mr. Larry's good graces. 'Listen to an old man's advice, boy! Never try to come between a young man and the woman he's mad his eyes upon. You'll prove the truth of that for yourself in time, no doubt—it would be like you to go fallin' in love with some bigger woman than that!"

"Never," cried Pat "!"——

And at never she stopped. How hard it was, in this moonlit garden, to remember that she wore pantaloons, and not native skirts, that every hour she lived was a new and living lie.

"Have it your own way!" said Reilley. "As for me, I'm going in. It's warm enough, but for my old bones there's peril in the air of night, be it ever so soft and balmy!"

Left alone in the perfumed night Pat touched the strings of her harp again. Ariana had finished her song, the applause that broke out kept her at the piano, and Pat could see her looking at Larry, as if she were asking him what she should sing next!

And Pat, seizing upon the moment of silence, lifted her own voice. Sweet and clear and fresh it was; the fragrance of the night was in it; the mystery of her race, with its long history of sorrow. Magic was in her song that night; all the passion of her being was woven into its strain, enriching it, ennobling it, lending it a beauty greater than any of which its maker had dreamed.

Straight from her heart, with all its load of sorrow and of fear, Pat sang. She was like some imprisoned bird, crying out in its cage for freedom and the right to live. The harp sang with her, under the light touch of her fingers, the wind rustled among the flowers; far away the bell of old Trinity rang out the hour.

And then, Ariana, not hearing, or hearing, not heeding, drove her fingers down upon the piano's keys once more, and her voice rose in another mincing, tawdry song. How dared she profane that golden sound that came stealing through the windows without? No [illegible] who had heard, and [illegible] breath to listen. Who [illegible]

Larry. He was gone. He had not [illegible] him. He had not known that in [illegible] New York [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WARD TELLS OF 'SNEAK' BLOW THAT ROCKED SHEVLIN

SAYS SHORT LEFT HOOK DID THE DAMAGE

By JACK CONWAY.

This is the first real story of the "sneak" punch which almost knocked out Eddie Shevlin when he battled George Ward at the Arena. It was told to this writer by George Ward, the sensational Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, who delivered the big blow.

George Ward.

When Ward was in Boston last week, he called upon this writer accompanied by Sam Golden, his manager. After discussing the probable outcome of his bout with Shevlin, which will be staged by the Sixth A. A. at the Boston Arena on Friday night, Ward said:

"I guess I'm the mystery of the "sneak" punch in the Shevlin fight. Were you instructed to pull this blow by Harry Kelly or Sam Golden?"

Ward's eyes flashed as he remembered the sensational first round of his last meeting with Shevlin.

"I'll give you the inside story of the "sneak" punch," he opened. "Right off the reel you can eliminate the names of Sam Golden and Harry Kelly. Neither one of these men was responsible for my pulling a "sneak" on Shevlin, so-called master boxer and director of the fistic game at Dartmouth.

"I was a little bit peeved at Shevlin when I entered the ring. This was due to the fact he had kept me waiting for over a year for a return match. Shevlin has got an idea he is the king of welterweights and that the rest of us must worship at his throne.

"At the bell I left my corner with a rush. I noticed that Shevlin had his right hand extended for a handshake. I then pushed my right hand towards his. At the time I intended to shake hands. Then the thought flashed through my mind: 'Why should I shake hands with Shevlin?' So I dropped my right hand and landed my left to my opponent's jaw. Shevlin sagged under the power of the blow and almost faded out of the picture.

DID NOT GET FULL POWER BEHIND BLOW.

"If I had planned to pull the 'sneak' punch I could have knocked Shevlin out. Under such conditions I would have got a full swing behind my blow and Shevlin could not have stood up under it. As it was, the desire to count with the 'sneak' blow did not come to me until I started to shake hands with Eddie. As a result, I was advised to let go a short hook to the jaw. I didn't get my weight behind the smash and so Shevlin was able to weather the storm.

"Shevlin made a great deal of cheap talk about my punch. One would think I had done something illegal. A boxer is supposed to fight from the bell to the first round Shevlin has been in the boxing game long enough to know this. I 'sneaked' him when I last fought him and I'll do it again on Friday night. Let the Dartmouth prima donna think this over."

Shevlin is busy training at Kelly & Hayes' gym and says he will be in the best condition of his career on Friday night. When told of Ward's statement, Eddie remarked:

"I'll take the wallop down in Ward's head on Friday night. I'll use punches instead of lied bandages to accomplish my purpose."

Meanwhile interest in the bout is growing with the result that a capacity crowd will be jammed into the Arena [illegible]. Sufficient A [illegible] Washington street reports there are [illegible] ducats left.

Wolf Levin, boss of [illegible] Silas Green, one of the best of the colored boxers will clash in the semi-final of eight rounds.

CHAPMAN AND DREW SIGNED BY C. A. C.

After weeks of dickering in an effort to clinch a return match, the Commercial A. C. has finally tied up what appears to be one of the best matches obtainable in this section when Johnny Drew of Worcester agreed to meet "Red" Chapman of Chelsea at Mechanics Building, Friday evening, November 9.

One of the greatest surprises of the fistic year was the defeat handed Chapman by Drew in a recent bout in Worcester. Until he met Drew, Chapman was fast climbing to the top and was in line to battle all the leading featherweights of the country.

Drew, however, punted Chapman all over the ring and won the decision. Ever since then, Chapman has been trying to obtain a return match. But Drew was in the driver's seat and refused to agree to a match unless he could dictate the terms.

Chapman has finally agreed to meet Drew as he is anxious to wipe out that defeat. It looms up as one of the best matches for local interest staged in the city this year.

Every boxing fan in Worcester who saw their last fight will come to Boston to root for their favorite in an effort to make another [illegible].

SHEPPARD AND OWENS IN SEMI-FINAL

Johnny Sheppard of Woburn, who just returned from the west and is seeking honors among the leading bantamweights of the country will clash with Paddy Owens of Cambridge in what looms up as the best semi-final arranged here in many months. There will be almost as much interest in this bout as in the main event.

HARRY FOLEY PROVES HE POSSESSES CLASS.

After subduing the highly touted cobject student, Willie Corbett, to his list of victims, Harry Foley, the North End's youthful featherweight, is out with challenge to meet the winner of "Red" Chapman-Johnny Drew bout. Foley is willing, also, to mingle with Joe Mandell, "Sid" Terris, Johnny Brown, Romeo Reches, Young Manny or Dinnie Glynn.

Foley's ability to draw was brought out at Lynn, when he and Willie Corbett played to nearly $1,000. Foley brought more than 200 plus to Lynn from the North End.

Foley's manager "Red" Shuter also has a lightweight in the stable who promises to make it interesting for the stellar performers. Sammy Marco, hailing from Montreal, is the lad that promises to put some pep into the lightweight division. Marco has twenty-seven straight wins, and wants to mingle with Sailor Byron, Tommy Leahy, Willie Gradwell, Mickey Landers or Kid Lee.

AMATEUR BOXERS TO HAVE BUSY SESSION.

The first big amateur boxing [illegible] of the season will be held Tuesday evening, November 13. It will be staged at the Boston Arena. The boxers of New Haven, New York and Boston will meet in the opening tri-city tournament of the year.

The tourney will be staged by the St. Joseph's T. A. B. in the pre-Olympic series which will be staged in all sections of the country to pick the boxers to wear the U. S. colors in the Olympic meet at Paris next year.

In the tri-city tournament there will be four classes while there will be three open classes. This means that the fans will see seven classes with all the stars of each division in action.

In the tri-city events, the classes will be 112, 118, 126 and 147 pounds, while the open classes include 126, 135 and heavyweight divisions.

President William H. Cuddy of the Olympic Boxing Committee will have charge of the show, and he sends word that entries can be made with him at No. 93 Cambridge street, Boston.

AL SEARS DEFEATS DILLON AT ARMORY

Al Sears, of East Boston, triumphed over Jack Dillon of Boston College, in their 10 round bout at the Armory A. A. show at the Grand Opera House.

"Wop" Manolian won the decision over Eddie Waters, former national and New England champion at 145 pounds. The fight lasted five out of the eight scheduled rounds.

Joe Munroe, of Charlestown, won for the second time over Eddie Cardello, of this city. This was the third battle between these boys and latter eight rounds in which there was always something doing.

Sailor Cavanaugh, of Cambridge, was defeated in an eight round bout by Joe Pangrazie, of Quincy.

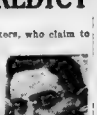
HOPPE'S REIGN AT END, CUE SHARPS PREDICT

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

New York, Oct. 31.—Among the local sharp-shooters, who claim to "know all" the tip is out that Willie Hoppe will descend at the end of the present week from his throne as world's champion billiardist probably never again to return. Hoppe's present form, it is contended, is so unimpressive as to preclude all possibility of the champion winning the International 18.2 balk line affairs now in progress at the Hotel Pennsylvania.



Jake Schaefer

Jake Schaefer, former champion; Roger Conti of France, and Edouard Horemans of Belgium, are fancied by the wise men as probable successors to the championship, and the prevailing even money on Hoppe against the field is getting plenty of action from the "know all" source.

Of the others entered, Welker Cochran of San Francisco is thought to lack the necessary poise and Erich Hagenlacher of Germany the necessary ability to finish at the top.

But on a "Hoppe against the field" proposition, they will be factors and perhaps altogether minor ones.

Hoppe averaged less than 20 in beating Hagenlacher in the opening match. He couldn't get away with that against any man in the tournament, the German included. He, in fact, will have to raise that average by at least ten points to dispose of Conti and Schaefer.

The latter, it is said, is playing in the form he showed at Chicago two years ago when he broke Hoppe down with a seance of super-billiards and ended Willie's prolonged domination of the green baize cloth.

The famous Hoppe "fiddle" in which the player saws indefinitely on a comparatively easy shot made its appearance in this tournament.

A miscue at a critical moment also gave evidence that Hoppe's stoicism had been broken down.

While, of course, cums back last year, beating Schaefer and the field; but Schaefer probably never again will wield as supine a cue as he did in that tournament, particularly in the final match, where he had a chance to carry the issue into an extra meeting with Hoppe.

On the contrary, Schaefer is declared to be playing better than ever. He will not have to be that good unless Hoppe pulls himself together, the sharpshooters say.

COCHRAN WINS FROM FRENCH CHAMPION

New York Oct. 31 (Universal)—Walker Cochran, the youthful star from Hollywood, Cal., began his assault at the 18.2 balkline billiard world's championship now held by Willie Hoppe, when he defeated Roger Conti, the champion of France, in the second match of the tourney.

The Frenchman, with a "prayer behind every shot," kept the result in doubt until the very last point was clicked off. The al point was: Cochran, 600 points; Conti, 457.

The affair went twenty-eight innings.

Cochran had high runs of 66, 71, 65 and 58. He ran out with a count of 33. Conti's best runs were 73, 61, 57 and 47.

First Full-Blooded Mexican Breaks Into Baseball

New York, Oct. 31.—The first full-blooded Mexican to appear on a major league payroll has been signed by the New York Yankees, it became known today. He is Adolofo Arguijo, a right-handed pitcher. Arguijo was with the Cornicans of the Texas Association last season.

"Old Wizard," defeated Edouard Horemans, the Belgian Luminary 500 to 451 points in nineteen innings.

Schaefer, ice cool as usual, overcame a fairly sizable lead of the Defeam in the eleventh frame.

Horemans showed the tension he was under by jumping up as his vantage was erased, and play was halted until he sat down.

Horemans best runs were 88, 6[illegible] and 63, in which his "brush of beard wing" touch in nursing was notable.

BUCK STONE IN TORRID WORKOUT FOR BOUT

Reports of the condition of Ed Buck Stone, who wrestles Stanley Stasiak at the Grand Opera House, next Tuesday night, have not been exaggerated. The writer spent the entire day at his training quarters at Hamilton.

After a long walk in the morning, Stone had breakfast. He spent a short time reading the morning papers and then was out on his farm running in the tractor, chopping down trees and roughing it in general. He believes that work of this kind is the best training in the world for an athlete who wants to gain speed and strength.

After dinner the work out in the gymnasium began. He skipped the rope like a boxer, punched the bag and boxed three rounds with his Scotch boxing instructor who has been in the family for twenty years.

Then he took such wrestlers as Tommy Record, Frank Dutcher, Frank Lurick and without using any strength outwrestled them with speed and cleverness.

Buck then stated that he saw where Stasiak lifted a wrestling mat with six boys on it. He took a long heavy dumbbell weighing three hundred pounds and put it over his shoulders. He then had Frank Lurick sit in the middle of the weight and Dr. Lad put [illegible] on his back. The big fellow laughed, and said: "I guess this will keep Stasiak for a while."

Jack Albright, the sensational Western grappler, who meets Ole Steffanson in a semi-final, is in great condition. He was mentioned last year as the most likely opponent to Ad Santel for the world's light heavyweight championship. Nick Bozinis, the Greek middleweight star, is working out daily with Stasiak and is in fine trim to meet George Wilson in the opening bout.

GRID HISTORY IN MAKING WHEN GREEN AND CORNELL CLASH

HARVARD VICTORY BIG BOOST FOR DARTMOUTH

By TOM THORP.

New York, Oct. 31.—The Dartmouth-Cornell battle at Hanover on Saturday is going to make football history. Jess Hawley has developed a real fighting outfit up at the White Mountain seat of learning. The way they ran roughshod over Harvard on the last week end is proof enough of their greatness. Nothing, but a first-class team could beat the Crimson.

Coach Hawley

Harvard is far from a poor team.

Fisher's pupils are going to prove this before the end of the season. In beating them 16 to 0 the Green lads accomplished something that few gridiron critics thought possible. It speaks for the sort of reception Gil Dobie and his Cornellians are going to receive Saturday.

For years Dartmouth was considered a college where the football players tackled harder than at any other seat of learning. With the resignation of Dr. Clarence Spears to take up the coaching job at West Virginia the fight appeared to fall out of Dartmouth's football. At least the victories of her molesking wearers grew few and far between.

It was under such adverse conditions that Jesse Hawley began to revive the Dartmouth spirit. To say that he has made a total success of his work is to repeat the words that are being heaped upon him on all sides. The quality of game his players came through with at Cambridge is the sort that few teams are able to surpass.

Roy Kelley

Leavitt

The situation that Hawley found confronting him was similar to that of Gil Dobie when the latter took up the coaching job at Cornell. The Ithacans had been beaten often by inferior elevens.

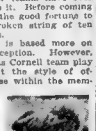
The championship eleven that Al Sharpe developed had faded into oblivion. The fighting spirit of the lads from Cayuga Lake was slowly being exhausted. What Dobie did at Ithaca Hawley duplicated at Hanover.

The former naval academy instructor took the Ithaca collegians at ebb tide and made them into a championship outfit. Dobie has an unbroken string of two seasons behind him. Because of this his lads are going to enter into Saturday's affair a slight favorite over their Hanover rivals.

Both teams have brilliant attacks. Dobie is, perhaps, one of the greatest off-nave coaches the game has yet produced. His running attack is such that few teams have ever been able to stop it. Before coming East Dobie had the good fortune to compile an unbroken string of ten years of victories.

Dobie's attack is based more on power than deception. However, those who saw his Cornell team play Colgate say that the style of offense he cut loose within the memorable win was every bit as deceptive as Knute Rockne's.

Jack Cannell



Hogan

No doubt the same style of play will be sent against Dartmouth on Saturday. Judging by the lacing that Dick Harlow's eleven received, the Hanover outfit is in for a busy afternoon on saturday.

Dobie uses a "cut in off tackle" to gain most of his ground with. This is a power play that takes much patience and much fine coaching to perfect.

TUFTS PLAYERS IN GOOD TRIM FOR HARVARD

Tufts' stock took a boost when Capt Tyler, Wilson and Hennessey, three of its cripples, reported to Coach Casey.

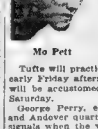
Joe Hughes

All are fit to play and will be seen in action against Harvard on Saturday in the Stadium.

The Jumbo squad is in perfect physical condition and the strongest combination of the season will battle the Crimson. Coach Casey admits that the outlook is bright for Tufts.

The varsity scrimmaged with the scrubs and the backfield, Eteiman, Hughes, Cohen and French scored at will against Jimmy Le Cain's outfit.

Casey is satisfied with the way his line shapes up. The Jumbo forwards ripped wide holes in the opposition in line plunges.



Mo Pett

Keith Killam, who reported last Wednesday and played in the Middlebury contest, will give Hennessey a battle for the tackle berth. Killam's experience may gain him a regular berth.

Tufts will practice at the Stadium early Friday afternoon so that they will be accustomed to the grounds Saturday.

George Perry, ex-Lawrence High and Andover quarterback, called the signals when the varsity put on its aerial attack. Although Perry will not start against Harvard, he will be in as soon as the Jumbo team get into position to score by the aerial route or by a drop kick.

Football Schedule Makers Are at Work Already

New York, Oct. 31.—College football schedule-makers plan for the 1924 season.

Prominent among the prospective games is a return engagement between Princeton and Notre Dame.

"How about another game next year?" Roper asked Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, after the recent game.

"It's O. K. with me," answered Rockne.

"We'll make it a week later," suggested Roper as he jotted the date in a notebook.

Centre College probably will invade the East again in 1924, as they are understood to have an option on a date at the Polo Grounds in October.

The Army-Navy classic, to be held this year at the Polo Grounds, may return to the battle-ground next Fall.

The Army has already agreed to meet St. Louis University at West Point on October 4, 1924.

Jack Dempsey Buys Big Apartment Property

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31—Jack Dempsey's profits from his bout with Luis Angel Firpo have given him and his manager, Jack Kearns, full title to a large apartment house here, according to an announcement by the bond house that handled the deal.

The fighter and his manager bought the property early this year subject to a bond issue.

With the proceeds of his recent clean-up from the Firpo bout Dempsey called in all outstanding bonds, amounting to $100,000.

NO SCRIMMAGES FOR CORNELL BATTLE

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 31. Dartmouth's preparation for the Cornell game will be minus the heavy scrimmage.

Lee Hawe

Lewis, halfback, who received a broken collar bone in the game with Princeton last week, did little for the first part of practice today. Lewis is expected to be in shape for the game with Cornell.

Although, who received an injury to the cartilage between the second and third team has been declared unfit to play on the Cornell game by Trainer Watson.

This will leave Murphy to take Lewis's place, if the need for a sub for fullback arises. Loomis, who was shifted to fullback on the second team for a short time, will be ready to play that position Saturday also.

End Coach Lynch spent time with the wing men, Bjorkman and Hagen-backs, and their substitutes, Tully and Watkins, to train them for the brand of off tackle plays that have brought Cornell victories over the Green in the past two years.

"Diddy" Tyler, '17, another veteran of the Green teams just after the war, was added to the coaching staff.

Ives

The rest of the lineup was: Luman, right end; Milstead, tackle, Eckert and Fuller, guards; Lovejoy, centre, Richeson, quarterback Stevens right half, Pond, left half, and Mallory, fullback.

Late in the scrimmage Landis replaced Lovejoy at centre. This was the only change made in the lineup.

The scrubs put up a strong defense against the varsity and played the varsity to a [illegible]

Yale [illegible] a forward pass on the scrubs' 40 yard line. A [illegible] yard [illegible] where there was a varsity fumble. The scrubs got the ball 30 yards from the varsity goal line by rushes and Lovejoy intercepted a scrub forward pass.

Stevens immediately punted to the scrub 20 yard line.

The varsity held the scrubs for downs and then, after a series of rushes, Stevens took it around end for a touchdown. He kicked goal. This was the only score of the afternoon.

The varsity spent most of the time on defensive work against the scrubs, which style of play always bothered Yale teams in their annual outs with the West Pointers.

Coach Jones announced his intention to put Neidlinger in the Army game for a while, as well as Murphy, the new find, at quarter.

The work of the next two days will consist of hard scrimmages with signal drill on Friday preparatory to the game against West Point.

EAGLE GETS READY FOR GEORGETOWN GAME

The Eagle has taken up constructive work again and will depend on last Saturday's game to serve as the basis of the reconstruction in both the offence and the defence.

Against Marquette neither the B. C. backs nor the line had many opportunities to display any power. The end running, on those occasions when the Eagle backs could shake themselves free, was good, while the forward passing game showed marked improvement.

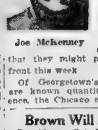
The Eagle now devotes itself to the perfection of those plays which it has tried out for two weeks against the scrubs. New formations are in order.

With another week of practice, this play, with Donahue as star, should run off with all the smoothness desired.

B. C. looks forward with eagerness to the desired comeback against Georgetown. The game Saturday and that with Holy Cross in December are the only remaining two in the way of the Eagle's attainment of the Catholic College championship of the East. Fordham succumbed to B. C.'s power.

Chuck Darling

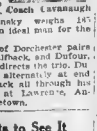
Although a perusal of the scores of its opponents' victories might lead one to suspect differently, Georgetown has a powerful eleven.



Joe McKenney

Georgetown has been pointing to the game with Boston College. They have saved themselves that they might present a strong front this week.

Of Georgetown's backfield few are known quantities. Paul Florence, the Chicago end, and captain, brings with him Paul Byrne, a speedy running back, whose specialty is an open field.



Coach Cavanaugh

Byrne will divide punting honors with Tony Plansky of South Boston, who is also a member of the Georgetown relay team. Plansky weighs 147 pounds, and is an ideal man for the fullback position.

Jack Hagarty of Dorchester pairs with Byrne at halfback, and Dufour, a Haverhill boy, directs the trio. Dufour has played alternately at end and at quarterback all through his football careers at Lawrence, Andover and Georgetown.

Brown Will Race Here

Providence, Oct. 31.—Brown's harriers went to work with their objective the meet on November 10 with the University of New Hampshire runners at Boston.

The meet will be held on the Franklin Park course, where the New England Intercollegiates will be run.

All Cadets to See It

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 31—The entire post will take the trip to New Haven. The cadets will go via the Central New England Railroad from Beacon, just up the Hudson from here.

FERGUSON RESIGNS AS TUFTS PROFESSOR

Thomas C. Ferguson, assistant professor of physical education at Tufts and former track and basketball coach there, has resigned to become supervisor of physical education of the New Bedford schools. He will take up his new duties late in November.

Ferguson was graduated from the University of South Dakota in 19[illegible]. As an undergraduate, he was a four letter athlete and won varsity honors in football, track, basketball and baseball.

During the war he became a first lieutenant in field artillery and later came to Greater Boston as physical director at the Somerville Y. M. C. A. which position he relinquished to take up his work at Tufts.

During his time at Tufts Ferguson was an important factor in the progress of mass athletics in progress at the hill.

James LeCain, former varsity football star and now a member of the department of physical education will take on his duties.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Things in the business and financial world don't simply happen. Men make them happen.

America has gone ahead ever by because it has many men of the brainy, forceful, progressive type. China, probably fully as rich in resources, has stagnated because it has had so few of the number of brainy, forceful, progressive leaders.

Wherever I visit a city or town, I try to find out the kind of men who are running it. Invariably the most successful communities are those possessing the most progressive business men.

Any city or town that neglects to reach out for a capable, enterprising, enthusiastic secretary of its principal business association is shortsighted.

Within twenty four hours after it became known that I was to visit Seattle a wire came from Frank Waterhouse, the very earnest and diligent president of the Chamber of Commerce inviting me to address the members. And when I reached the city, the secretary of the Chamber Christy Thomas, handed me a neatly bound book which I found contained almost all the information and facts and figures which I thought I would have to spend days and days in gathering. The whole of this matter had been brought up to the minute.

"We feared remarked Secretary Thomas, "that you might want to see data about our city which we have not tried to get together just what we thought you might find useful."

A Chamber of Commerce secretary such as I found Christy Thomas to be is worth many thousands of dollars a year to a sizeable city that wants to progress.

In view of the depressing sentiment being broadcasted by the tumbling New York stock market it may be salutary to call a few facts and figures which may show part of the country is preparing it can be truly said that as a whole is enjoying a degree of prosperity all along the Pacific slope.

• • •

Before the Congress of Republican Editors assembled in Washington, Secretary of Commerce Hoover delivered an address in which he declared that the first nine months of 1923 were the most prosperous in the history of the country. He attributed the following percentage increases over the corresponding period of 1922:

Building operations 18 per cent.
Bank clearings 20 per cent.
Railroad freight carloadings 12 per cent.
Railroad passenger business 15 per cent.
Electric power output 12 per cent.
Automobile production 20 per cent.
Coal production 10 per cent.
Iron and steel production 20 per cent.
Textile production 10 per cent.
Boot and shoe production 10 per cent.
Agricultural exports 20 per cent.
Imports of raw materials 20 per cent.
Imports of manufactured goods 30 per cent.

Secretary Hoover declared that the business of the country as a whole was the most active in history. He said that the volume of business in the first nine months of 1923 was 15 per cent greater than the corresponding period of 1922

EULALIE JENSEN BUYS DOG FOR RECORD PRICE

EULALIE JENSEN, one of the interesting players in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," has been added to Hollywood's list of dog fanciers. She has purchased Brush wood Laddie from "Buck" Jones at a record price. Miss Jensen fell at Eulalie Jensen the Hollywood dog show. Like so many others she found the police dog the best from the point of beauty and utility. To dog is one of the several that Jones imported direct from Germany.

ETHEL SHANNON, playing the leading feminine role in "Maytime," has just completed the phase of the Gaumier picture in which she appears as a girl of twelve. Given her choice of requiring to be the pig tail age or that of the grandmother — [illegible] both of which Ethel Shannon she does for this picture—Ethel says she vastly prefers her school girl days

MABEL FORREST is now under the management of Grand-Asher of Hollywood, New York and Boston. She has completed four pictures, in the first three of which she co-starred with her husband, Bryant Washburn. Of course, you all know Mabel in Mabel Forrest the wife of Mr. Washburn and the mother of two lovely children. The responsibilities of domestic life have, at times, kept her away from the screen.

Jesse M. Durkee, head of the J. M. Durkee Coal Company, No. 81 Chatham street, Lynn, reported to the police that someone is gluing the Durkee home doors and putting paste on the doorknobs.

Police think that former customers, unable to get their Winter supply are seeking revenge.

Cave Men Admired Fat Women. Why?

Boy Babies Become Deeply Attached to Stout Nurses. A Baby Is a Primitive Man

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

In the caves of Southern France they find drawings by ancient people, men that lived a quarter of a million years ago at least. Some of these men, called Cro-Magnon, were remarkable artists.

They reproduced on the walls different animals, drawn, not with mere slight talent, but with real genius.

They show us also, which is interesting, that men hundreds of thousands of years ago controlled and used the horse. For, whereas their pictures of other animals show those animals running free, their pictures on the old walls show the horse with a rope bridle around his nose.

What interests scientists and some writers of short, pithless paragraphs is the fact that these artists evidently were passionate admirers of very fat women. They make pictures of men thin, full of energy. They make animals muscular, powerful, running swiftly. But their pictures of women always show gigantically FAT individuals, their hips so wide that it must have been difficult for them to waddle around the caves. It is evident that everything was done to make them as fat as possible, evident also that our ancestors of the distant day liked women when they were fat and ONLY when they were fat. For they do not condescend to make pictures of any but the very fattest.

This great admiration of fatness on the part of the cave man puzzles scientists.

WHY was fat so much admired? We know that among the bees and the ants the queen is a very big insect, much larger and fatter than ordinary insects that wait upon her. But you cannot establish any connection between the curious instinct of the bees and the fat-worshipping ideas of the cave man.

Among the Hottentot savages of our day you see still existing a preposterous admiration for very fat women.

They have in Paris in the museum of Jardin des Plantes a lifelike, exact reproduction of a Hottentot "Venus" that had come to Paris and died there. It would be immodest even to describe this lady, to say nothing of reproducing her in her lifelike monstrosity as the museum did.

It is enough to say that the lady's diameter passed all human belief, and yet it was not exaggerated.

The cave men admired very fat women because, in the first place, when famine came cannibalism was practised. Perhaps the man of ancient days said to himself, "I might as well love a fat woman, then if the worst comes to the worst I can eat her, and pull through the Winter."

Some young men of this day say, "I might as well marry a rich girl; her money is nothing against her, and if the worst comes to the worst I can live on it."

It is to be remembered also that primitive peoples living in the caves were probably most of them very thin, from hunting wild animals and each other.

Fat, in their eyes, was a sign of leisure and safety. They admired it; the men couldn't have it; so they wanted women to have it. It kept up a fair average in the next generation.

You know that the very prosperous American who would seem a fool if he went around wearing a diamond or pearl necklace is much happier when he looks across the table and sees his wife wearing the necklace. He admires that on his wife, as the Cro-Magnon gentleman admired fat on his lady.

Also, and finally, bear in mind that the modern infant of today is in many ways like the full-grown savage. And every well-trained nurse will tell you that small babies, especially boy babies, prefer a stout nurse. They will get along with a thin nurse if she is kind and attentive. But let them choose, and the choice is a fat nurse, one upon whose soft shoulder the head can rest without feeling any bumps.

Those men of the cave period went too far in the fat direction, there is no doubt about that. Some of their ladies, judging by the drawings, must have weighed four hundred pounds. On the other hand, modern fashion goes too far in the direction of bones. Man should not foolishly admire an accumulation of fat, nor should he devote himself literally to a rag and a BONE with daubs of rouge and powder at the upper end, near the bank of hair. Aristotle's "not too much, not too little" applies to fat.

Michigan Has Un-American Statute for Bear-Baiting Men Whom Big Business Does Not Like

Here is an illustration of public regulation vs. public ownership. In the State of Michigan they have an un-American statute known as the "anti-syndicalist law," which ought to be declared unconstitutional. It is a law for bear-baiting men whose radical political views big business and the gentlemen who are doing more to undermine our republic than any others do not like.

There is a strong movement among the people of Michigan, who are returning to their sanity and poise and their Americanism after the post-war hysteria, in favor of the repeal of this law. Big business and the whole tribe of exploiters have rallied to the defence of the law and have adopted a typical camouflage to procure their ends. They have sought out the United Spanish War Veterans' Association to support this law as super-patriots. The collector for this body of super-patriots went around among the public service corporations whose exploitations make them most sensitive to appeals of this sort. He sent a letter of one company, however, who told him that he did not think that the public service corporations had any right under the law, however much they would like to do so, to contribute to political causes.

Thereupon, one Sherman P. Handy, a member of the Public Utilities Commission, the public regulators of the public service companies of Michigan, wrote to this company a note, in which he said:

I cannot understand why this officer or any other officer should make a statement of that kind (that the public service corporations had no right to make such contributions). A donation by public utilities for patriotic purposes such as you are engaged in would not only be permitted by this commission but encouraged.

So the people of Detroit are now obliged to pay in their electricity and gas bills the cost of fighting in the interest of big business against the repeal of an utterly un-American and unconstitutional law. This is about all that most of our regulating commissions are good for.

But one thing is certain that the people now understand the fact. The next question is when their inertia will be sufficiently overcome for them to take the next step, which will be public ownership and operation of these public utilities.

'MORONS' OF THE CURB MUST GO

KEOKUK, Iowa, Oct. 30.—Curbstone morons must go, according to the edict of Chief of Police McPherson.

Although this is no metropolis, the youth of the town have city ways. They insist on taking young flappers for joy rides without first being properly introduced.

In Keokuk proper introduction is a social prerequisite.

Hence several male vamps, termed 'curbstone morons" by the police, are languishing in jail to pay for their social errors.

Scolds and Gossips

Editor Boston American:

The judge who favored a ducking for the woman convicted as a common scold is to be congratulated. He is quite right, but, should have included the neighborhood gossip. If there are two phases of femininity that should be tarred and feathered and then ducked to a tight-lipped finish, they are the scold and the gossip.

Baby No. 10 Coming

Editor Helping Hand

Baby No. 10 is coming, and not a stitch of clothes or any way of getting any. Is there someone who can give me an outfit and a baby carriage, one that can be used as a crib also. Since losing our home, furniture, bedding and everything by fire, all of us slept on the floor for a time, and some of us do now. The baby two years old needs a crib and mattress, as we cannot keep him comfortable now. My last baby came without doctor, nurse or woman in the house at the time or afterward. So must this one, but I do want to have a place for it to lay its head and something to protect its body. Hence this appeal.

MRS. S. B. B.

War Vet Needs Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a war veteran, wounded and gassed. I do not receive any compensation. My wife has undergone two serious operations. I am willing to go out and work for anyone who will give me shoes, size 8½, and a suit, size 38, and an overcoat for my wife, size 46. I have a sign up in my window for house and window cleaning, but we live mostly off what we are able to pawn. I have good references and discharge. I will appreciate anything done that comes in my way.

W. C. P.

Family Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

May I make an appeal for my brother and his family? They do not live in this State. Since war days he has had very little work and very small pay, as he has broken down feet and it is almost impossible for him to walk. His wife just had a very serious operation and was six weeks in the hospital. They have three of the sweetest little girls that ever lived, ages six, four and two. My mother wrote to me yesterday and said she saw nothing but starvation for them the coming Winter. The children and the mother have no clothes. She wears size 36. I am a widow with four children, so cannot do very much for them. If any reader can help with some clothes, I will be very grateful, and so will they.

Mrs. B. H. S.

Grateful for Aid

Editor Helping Hand:

I have received your letters with the addresses and also the check to be used for baby clothes. I would like to write and thank the man who sent me the money, but the only address was "Detroit Stroger Sailor" and the name of the boat, so I am taking this way of telling him how grateful I am and how much happier it made me.

MRS. R. C.

Crippled Motorman

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband was a motorman. He fractured both legs in an accident and has been a cripple since. Is there anyone who has some shoes with good soles and soft uppers, size 6½, they could give. Since the accident, he can only wear soft shoes which have been cut down the front.

MRS. M. G.

Box of Clothing

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a box of clothing that would fit children from six months to ten years. I would gladly pay postage to send them to some one that needs them if you would send me the address. Your paper is certainly doing a great deal of good.

MRS. C. F. M.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. J. A., who has seven children who fall within the ages you mention.

No Coat to Wear

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a middle-aged woman, all alone. I have been ill, but have grown stout since. I will be able to go out to work soon, but have no coat to wear. Is there any one who could give me a coat, size 42, or larger, or shoes, size 6. I would like a coat that I could wear to church, too, but any kind at all will save the day.

MRS. C. A. H.

Eighty-Four and Alone

Editor Helping Hand:

I am eighty-four years old, and all alone in the world. My only income is a few odd jobs I can get now and then. The Winter is coming on, and I have no overcoat, and only one old suit of clothes that won't hold together much longer. I wear size 42 or 44. I used to be a gold miner, and at one time was pretty well off, but a ship that I built and outfitted for the gold fields was wrecked and completely destroyed.

H. C. L.

Has Things to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me Mrs. F. O'N.'s address, as I am sure I can get her husband work in furniture moving at $5. I am only a working woman myself, but as I have broken up my rooming house and have a small flat now I could give some needy family two large quilts. I also have a suit, size 46, gray, and a man's coat, size 38, and other things.

MRS. A. P.

Thank you. You have been sent Mrs. F. O'N.'s address, and also the addresses of Mrs. L. M., who will be grateful for the quilts, and of A. J. B., who is in need of such clothing as you mention.

New Baby Needs Blanket

Editor Helping Hand:

I am just out of the hospital with a new baby and sadly in need of clothing. I haven't even a pair of shoes to go on the street with. I wear size D width. Five months ago my husband deserted me and my girlie, three years old, and that is why I am in such need now. I would be very grateful for underclothes and a dress or skirt and waist, size 46. Being 34 years old, I will gladly repay anyone when I am in condition to work. My new baby needs a blanket to wrap around her.

MRS. A. A. K.

Thanks for Check

Editor Helping Hand:

Thank you for the check very much and please thank F. L. G., who lives in New Bedford. Mama was able to buy some coal and wood.

MAMIE.

Sends in List

Editor Helping Hand:

Enclosed is a list of clothing that some needy person may be able to use. Later on, I will try and gather some more.

MISS G. S.

Thank you for the nice list. You have been sent the address of Mrs. C. E. P., who needs clothing for her children so they can stay in school.

AN AMERICAN CITIZEN WHO NEVER HEARD OF COLUMBUS

By Herbert Kaufman

THE Smithsonian expedition locates the oldest human inhabitant of America under the site of the Potter Hotel at Santa Barbara.

This ancient person, judging by his skull, seems to have been a hard-headed, bigoted, quarrelsome citizen, incapable of many ideas and disinclined to revise them.

As we have found no previous local evidence of man from the same era, ethnologists will now investigate various European family trees and endeavor to trace another migratory branch of the Cro-Magnons, reputed descendants of the tribes which populated Western Europe.

Coincidental characteristics suggest that this aboriginal may possibly be related to a certain M. Raymond Poincare, who offers no objection to the institution of a reparations inquiry, having already assured himself that the Versailles treaty forbids acceptance of its recommendations or decisions.

Circus Lemonade

Several readers want to know how a government can so inflate its currency that a dollar will buy several billion dollars' worth of money. In precisely the same way that circus lemonade is diluted—constant addition of water without increasing flavoring content.

Teuton finance simply let the Atlantic into the Reichsbank.

At the present moment, Germany is several quintillion marks short of demand. Had Adam started to count a quintillion and willed the completion of the job to descendants, the task would still be unfinished.

Isn't it wonderful to live in a country whose paper shall always be as good as gold (provided we don't weaken security and securities by exposing them to European influence)?

Feathers From Dead Men's Caps

Almost all the students of the Oregon Agricultural College, born and reared west of the Cascade Mountains, either have poor teeth or show more or less evidence of goitre, due to drinking melted snow water, totally lacking in lime and organic salts. Eat more sea fish and green vegetables.

Buckle, the historian, refers to identical conditions and observations in upper India and parts of Africa.

Over a century ago, Himalayan tribes knew what caused the widely prevalent disease, and burned sponges for the sake of the iodine in their ashes.

As early as 1807, Mungo Park, the explorer, witnessed the same practice among negro witch-doctors, also aware of goitre's origin and the efficacy of iodine treatment.

Modern medicine reaches a belated diagnosis and cure. The group of pathologists who have just plunged themselves upon introducing a novelty to therapeutics seem to have plucked their feathers from dead men's caps.

All sound knowledge isn't recent. Previous folk, too, were fundamental. What modern mathematician is comparable to Archimedes? And, pray, who can temper bronze, nowadays?

The Branch of the Yale-Hunan Hospital in Changsha credits Chinese practitioners with secret remedies that the West might well adopt. Some of their heart stimulants, cathartics and dropsy prescriptions are much superior to those in our pharmacopoeia.

Yesterday is by no means a squeezed orange.

Shakedowns and Earthquakes

Old King Coal still takes his toll despite Governor Pinchot. The strike settlement plank, up which it once looked as though he'd walk a long way toward the Republican nomination, won't carry him far, according to retail coal prices.

A Pyrrhic victory for the exploited public. Nothing but Federal control can prevent anthracite profiteering. Examination of mine costs and final charges proves that producers instead of wholesalers are responsible for the high cost of furnace fuel.

It begins to look as though the colliery companies have a stronger pull in Congress than the people at large.

Memphis meets a stranger. For the first time in recollection a five-minute earthquake visits the city and shakes things generally a hundred and fifty miles around. Tremors extend through the entire central Mississippi. It breaks plate glass windows and topples chimneys at Mark Tree, Arkansas, and stages a tidal wave on the St. Francis River.

History Made While You Watch

And tremors of joy emanate from Washington as Senator Curtis, Republican whip and power in the Finance Committee, announces administration intent to reduce taxes all down the line, "regardless of bonus legislation."

This declaration, following a White House conference, should help to counteract the market effect of a statement from Lloyd George, that all hope of reparations settlement must be relinquished unless Poincare reverses his stand at Campigny and accepts indemnity reduction. Otherwise, chaos for Europe. If that's so, prepare for chaos.

President Kemal Pasha of Turkey sends greetings from the new republic established by the National Assembly at Angora. Wish him well. There's a competent, earnest, honest individual who has already made history and may yet change the complexion of the Near East.

Trotzky is writing a book on etiquette. The worst is over in Russia, too. Anarchy perishes in the manicurist's hands and retreats before rules of precedent. World revolution! Banish the thought. It isn't approved in the best circles.

The Barling bomber, Leviathan of aeroplanes, carries eight and a half tons sixty-three hundred feet up in the air. The event, dismissed with a few lines, is a more significant bit of news than most of the past week's featured stories.

Limited aviation mail service eight years ago, merchandise cargoes today and in carload lots tomorrow. California fruits and berries picked at sunrise for Manhattan supper tables; peaches plucked in Cape Colony Monday and kept fresh by high altitudes for Chicago's Thursday marketeers—flying freight has arrived.

The Ruhr isn't supplying all food for reflection.

Science Finds a New Animal That "Lives" While Dead

How the Bear Animalcule Shrivels Up When "Dead." An Infinitesimal Drop of Water Is Sufficient to Restore Him to Life—and His Normal Size.

An Indian Fakir in State of Suspended Animation; the Exact Human Counterpart of the Animalcule's Death-Like Trance.

SIR ARTHUR E. SHIPLEY, famous English scientist, had a nice, muddy ditch, between flower-beds, in his rose gardens. It interested him even more than the roses, for it was rich in microscopic animal life.

While studying a bit of this mud under the lenses, he joyously beheld the smallest and most amusing of all animals—a bear animalcule, so called because it resembles a tiny bear.

These little creatures are just as much true animals as elephants or polar bears, but they are so diminutive that if fifty of them marched in a parade holding each others' tails, the procession would be only an inch long.

As Sir Arthur studied the animalcule's habits, he little thought that it would yield a discovery shedding momentous new light on the great secret of life and death—but so it has turned out.

Sir Arthur assures the world that his pet really looks like "a dear little sucking pig in plate armor," and he felt inclined "to pat it on the head, if it weren't so small."

Sir Arthur, who is master of Christ's College, Cambridge, says further that these bear animalculi, "live obscure and hidden lives remote from the world, like the professors at Oxford."

Writing in the British scientific journal, "Discovery," he says:

"In their natural state—in a damp atmosphere—they live and move and have their being, like any other animals. But if their surroundings dry up, or if one be removed and placed upon a slide and allowed to dry, then will its movements gradually slacken until they entirely cease.

"The body begins slowly, but steadily, to shrink. The outline and form are lost. The skin becomes wrinkled and folded, and in a short time it assumes the appearance of a grain of sand. All vital activities are suspended, or, at any rate, reduced to an unascertainable minimum."

In other words, the heart ceases to beat, the lungs cease breathing, the blood ceases circulating, precisely as in a dead creature. You can see on this page the illustrations of the animal in its normal state, also after it is dried up, and apparently dead. Sir Arthur declares its complicated inner organs, which are dried up, too, have ceased to function.

He continues:

"In this dried-up condition, bear animalculi may remain for many years without undergoing any visible change. If, however, they be gradually moistened with water, the steps the animal underwent when drying up are retraced.

"The grain of sand begins slowly to swell; the wrinkles gradually disappear; and presently a plump, healthy little animal swells up; the legs stretch out, and soon the animal assumes its normal shape. For a time, it remains quiet, and then it begins slowly and feebly to move about, and after a period which varies from a quarter of an hour to several hours, according to the time its life has been suspended, the little animal crawls away to resume its adventures."

Here, then, is a perfect example in animal life of what amounts practically to "death and resurrection,"—that is the complete cessation of life for a considerable period in a given body, and its subsequent complete resumption.

That is all very well for a microscopic beast, but what has it to do with the bigger question of human life and death, or with the human body.

The answer is that it is believed the human body can do almost exactly the same thing—in fact in some cases it has done it. And by a further study of the principles involved science hopes to obtain valuable new knowledge about bringing back to life human cases of suspended animation, and perhaps within sharp limitation, the restoration of life to patients who have in reality died.

Already, as is widely known, people to all intents and purposes dead have been brought back to life by scientific methods. By saying they are dead is meant that the heart has stopped beating and that they have ceased to breathe.

There is the specific case of several "adrenalin babies" in Chicago hospitals. Adrenalin is a substance taken from the adrenal gland, either of human beings or sheep. It has been discovered that injection of it into the heart after the latter has stopped beating, will sometimes start its action again.

Other cases of complete suspended animation, from drowning or asphyxiation, have been "brought back to life" by means of artificial respiration—oxygen and the pulmotor.

These methods, of course, do not directly connect with the phenomena observed in the case of the bear animalcule, but they all have a trend in the same direction.

The only exact counterpart of the bear animalcule in human life can be found in the cases of the Hindu holy men, who go into trances and permit themselves to be buried for weeks, and "come to life" again after they are exhumed.

Sir Arthur Shipley himself establishes

...ms, the Upper Indicatin... Heart into Which Adre... to Restore Life, an... wing the Supra-Renal B... from Which Adrena... en for This Purpose.

...rison. He quotes an ...e in which many of the ...astonishingly close pa... palace of Runjeet Sin...

...building which had in the middle ...ed vault, a fakir, who had voluntarily put himself in a lifeless condition, ...een sewed up in a sack and walled ...e single door of the vault having ...ealed with the private seal of Runjit Singh. in order to exclude all fraud, ...ion of soldiers had been established, ...were relieved every two hours, and ...n turn were watched by other sentinels.

Under these conditions, the fakir ...ined in his grave for six weeks.

When the vault was opened, the seal ...all the walls were found uninjured. ...sack containing the fakir lay in a ...ed box, which was provided with a ...likewise uninjured. The sack, which ...ented a mildewed appearance, was ...ned, and the crouching form of the ...r was taken out. The body was dry ...perfectly stiff (remember the bear ...malcule). A physician who was present ...nd that nowhere in the body was a ...ce of pulse beat present. In the meantime, the servant of the fakir poured ...m water over the head, laid a hot cake ...on the top of the head, removed the ...s with which the ears and nostrils were ...pped, and with a knife forcibly opened ...r teeth which were tightly pressed together, drew forward the tongue, which ...s bent backward, and rubbed the closed ...elids with butter. Presently the fakir ...gan to open his eyes, the body began to ...itch convulsively, the nostrils were ...ated, the skin, heretofore stiff and ...rinkled, assumed gradually its normal ...ullness, and a few minutes later the ...akir opened his lips and spoke."

And so now, with the parallel established, science believes that by further observations and discoveries of the principle involving the "death and resurrection" of the bear animalculi, it may get the ...lues to facts of tremendous importance ...n connection with human life and ...death.

Medbury Says

By John P. Medbury

THE telephone company doesn't realize how much the public would appreciate it if they'd illustrate their directories with cartoons and run short stories in them.

THE "hello girls" wouldn't be so rushed all the time. A man would pick up the book to look for a number, get interested in the funny pictures and forget all about phoning.

THE names of all the prominent authors are in the directory, and they'd be more than glad to write a feature story for it.

IT wouldn't be long before the company could sell their telephone books at the news stands.

IT would also turn every 'phone booth into a branch of the public library.

THE publisher could run continued stories and the subscribers wouldn't be able to wait until the next issue came out.

THEY could publish mystery and fiction stories, like an article about a guy who succeeded in getting the right number the first time.

IT wouldn't be a bad idea to leave the last hundred pages of the book blank so that when your party didn't answer, you could write him a letter, tear the sheet out and mail it to him.

THEY ought to improve the looks of their telephones, too, so that you can put it up on the mantelpiece along with the other ornaments.

IF the mouthpiece were bigger, you could turn it upside down whenever you had company and use it for a punch bowl.

OF course, you yourself could convert the instrument into a beautiful bridge lamp by setting it on a high stand and making a silk shade for it.
